Introduction: “He that ruleth over men must be just.”

Study of controversial topics encourages critical thinking & accountability to God. Our opinions (& politics) reflect our morals, & our morals reflect our salvation.

“O Cromwell, Cromwell! Had I but served by God with half the zeal I served my King, he would not have in my age have left me naked to mine enemies.” (Henry VIII, William Shakespeare)

“be instructed more perfectly in...things which have been, things which are, things which must shortly come to pass; things which are at home, things which are abroad; the wars and the perplexities of the nations, and the judgments which are on the land; and a knowledge also of countries and of kingdoms— That ye may be prepared in all things when I shall send you” (D&C 88: 78-80)

When we consider our social duties, we should turn our attention to the study of government. The Doctrine & Covenants as well as other religious texts specifically instruct us to learn of governments, at home and abroad. Enjoy with me learning conservative principles of good government.

Become aware of secret combinations which threaten to destroy the freedom of all lands, as prophesied in The Book of Mormon, which was written specifically for our day, and, as it took place in ancient American lands, mirrors times and events of modern America in particular.

Learn more about the US Constitution, which was specifically sanctioned by the Lord in modern revelation. Learn what you can do to support good government. Political beliefs reflect moral character as they pertain to what we would and would not force another person to do. So yes, God is very interested in your politics.

Are you ready to be a king or queen, as God has promised? We must all be vigilant to give others a reason for our beliefs, including our views on ideal government. We will look at third-party voting, The Constitution Party, religious freedom, statements of the prophets against socialism and communism, and other exciting information as you, like Moroni, live as a patriot for the sake of all you hold dear.

Righteous Strength Pain & Success; Freedom of Speech; Natural Gender Preferences - Jordan Peterson & John Stossel Interview Notes

<https://youtu.be/p3368WA10qM>

- don't do anything for them they can do for themselves or it hurts them and limits their autonomy
- you should be capable of danger, but not use it
- martial arts are about learning to be dangerous and to control it
- weakness doesn't mean you're good
- it takes strength to be good, it's very difficult
- over-compassion weakens people
- Hansel & Gretel: shelter filled with candy, too good to be true, filled with a great evil
- private speech has never been compelled by legislature in English Common Law. Commercial speech yes, such as not lying about your product. Transgender laws compelling speech is radical, never done before.
- meekness inherit earth means those who have swords and know how to use them and keep them sheathed
- if you're incapable of violence, not being violent isn't a virtue.
- there are no rights without responsibility. Responsibility of yourself and your family and your community and the search for truth are what give people meaning in life.
- its the weak who shoot up the high schools
- in egalitarian societies, less women enroll in STEM education & jobs than men every time.
- you can have important things to you, but we must always recognize universal overarching truth. Marriage, business, and societies don't function if people don't agree on truth.
- women's and ethnic studies are out to produce radical leftists by their own admission, they are corrupt to the core. They preach compassion is the only virtue, and that society is inherently tyrannical.

-socialism always has the same end consequence: lying about why their society is failing, making it illegal to criticize them.

-Marxism is undoubtedly murderous.

-No system eliminates inequality. There is no evidence that socialism communism or Marxism have less inequality than capitalism.

-We are all equal before God and the law, but that's where it stops. Beyond that we are all very different, and want to be different.

-There is pain associated with success. Success motivates. We cannot get rid of success. Those who want to get rid of winners are mostly motivated by resentment.

Alexander Hamilton Issues

Hamilton was an aristocrat. He wanted a federal bank to control the people. His suggestions in the constitutional convention were all rejected.

Andrew “Stonewall” Jackson

A few notes on an episode on Jackson from a production called “The Civil War Journal” by the History Channel.

-he was rigid in his morals, no gray area

-he gave credit to God for his victories

-he gave memorized lectures as a professor

-he had a strange but charismatic personality

-his wife died in pregnancy with their first child 15 months after their marriage

-he was well known in the north and south. Children would cry and people would say "shh! Stonewall will come and get you!"

-he was the "right arm" of Robert E Lee

2021: We're All Terrorists Now

Internal Wars Leading to the Collapse of the US Government – Prophet Quote Summaries

(For references see pages indicated in Crowther’s “Prophecy Key to the Future”)

- Joseph Smith: the Saints and the world will have little peace from hence forth. p49
- Orson Pratt: civil war 2 in the US will stop farming and manufacturing; fighting will be between neighborhood vs. neighborhood. Civil War 1 was nothing compared to what this will be. p50
- Joseph Smith: the whole government of the US will become one big mob. p51
- Orson Pratt said in 1868: Many 100,000's to be destroyed in civil wars in USA. p51
- Orson Pratt: farming neglected as people flee city to city in an upcoming civil war. p52
- Wilford Woodruff: In USA natural disasters and plagues while wicked slay the wicked until the wicked are wasted away. p52
- Joseph Smith: If USA not hear petition of LDS, will be totally obliterated - not a potshard left. p52-3
- Wilford Woodruff: destruction awaits the USA, and prophets should warn. p53
- Moses Thatcher (Apostle): A secret band will sap the life of this nation and it will fall. p53
- Joseph Smith: US Supreme Government will cease to exist, people will run from place to place and families will turn on each other. p53
- Orson Pratt: government end and we (the LDS Church) make our own. p54
- Brigham Young: strife and opposition within communities is the knife that will cut down the USA. p54
- Orson Pratt: LDS make their own government as USA falls. It will be based on US Constitution. p54
- Orson Pratt: Eventually fall of USA and Europe and in them all business cease from the chaos. p55
- Joseph Smith: All will go to the west USA who want peace and won't use sword against neighbor. p55
- Wilford Woodruff: just as Book of Mormon peoples destroyed, so SHALL it be again here. p55
- 3 Ne. 21:12-21; 20:15-17: A remnant of Jacob (usually refers to Lamanites or the house of Israel) will tread down the Gentiles if they don't repent. They'll destroy the witchcraft, vehicles, cities, priestcrafts, graves, and we thus won't worship the works of our hands any more. These will happen at an unheard of level. p56-57
- Crowther: apparently Lamanites rise against the Gentiles when end of time of Gentiles and before Israel gathered. Thus it seems to happen at the time of the US internal wars. p57
- D&C 88:84-92 says times of Gentiles, then destructions, then a voice calls us to go out to meet the bridegroom. p58

-D&C 133:8-12 says Elders gather Gentiles then Jews then a call to go meet the bridegroom, and a call for the Gentiles to flee to Zion. p58

-D&C 115:6 Gather to Zion and her stakes for a refuge when wrath is poured out over all earth. p58

-Brigham Young: When great day of judgments of God comes millions of righteous will gather in the valleys of the mountains. p58

-Brigham Young: everyone will be against everyone; these mountains are the best place for the Saints to hide till all the indignation is over. There is no place better suited in all earth's history or geography. p58

-Brigham Young: Saints now all over, but will return to the west, a refuge for millions as judgments poured out. "We will be shut out from the rest of the world" It will be an inland empire for the refuge of millions during the time of the indignation of God "Our people will go east, west, north and south, but the day will come when they will be glad to come back". p58

-Brigham Young: the battles will even be Christians against Christians; all who won't fight will need to come to Zion to escape the fighting. p58

-Orson Pratt: LDS missionaries will be sent to all the world declaring there is a place in the heart of USA where peace and refuge from the major destructions can be found. p59

-Brigham Young: Jordan River area through Salt Lake will have over 3 million living there. p59

-J Golden Kimball: Many LDS who have gone elsewhere will have a burning desire to return to where the church leaders have asked us to settle (the west) and will give anything to live there. p59

-Brigham Young: 3 million will live west of the Jordan River area. p59 (*Currently in 2016, 3 million is the population of all of Utah)

-Wilford Woodruff: 10,000's will live in Logan. p60

-Joseph Smith: Make haste, when the wars come, we will need to flee to Zion. Gentiles will flow to us a constant stream then and our doors will be constantly open to them. p61

-Joseph Smith: When wars come we will have to flee to Zion, those who don't go when they have a chance to go will be afflicted by the devil. p61

-Orson Pratt: As flowing stream goes continual, so shall the Gentiles come to us in Zion seeing God protects Zion and that there is no safety in their nations. Their nations will be tottering and crumbling to ruin. They'll come not to be baptized, but for safety, having heard also our officers are for peace, and our tax collectors righteous. p61

-Heber C. Kimball: millions on millions will come but not with handcarts, only with bundles and their children fleeing. p62

-George Q. Cannon: The LDS will be the people to maintain Constitutional government in this land. More of the prophecy of not take sword against neighbor need flee to Zion is yet to be fulfilled. The going away from the Constitution will cause people to be compelled to flee to the Mormons though they are hated now, and this fleeing to escape civil broils and strife. p62

-Brigham Young: Eventually there will be a gulf between the righteous and the wicked so they cannot trade with each other and national intercourse will cease. p62

-Heber C Kimball: trade your silks and fine things for grain and other needs, for we will have to depend on our own resources, for soon the curtain will be dropped between us and the rest of the USA. When that time comes you'll wish you had made your own clothing earlier. God requires that we go into home manufacturing. p63

-Orson Pratt: Gate will be shut; we won't be able to do foreign imports. Do have (your own) productions. p63

-Joseph Smith: England (and France some also) will be neutral until the USA is so terriid they will try to step in to stop the bloodshed. It will seem they rule USA. USA will have so many claiming government power till it has none at all. In the Rocky Mountains, there will be peace because of a cordon band of the white horse (the church) and the red horse (the Lamanites?) (The horses seem to represent peoples in America and based on skin color). p63

-Joseph Smith: So many, danger of famine. (apparently speaking of the time of the US internal wars and gathering to the west, how there will be famine there because of so many flocking there for refuge) p64

-Heber C Kimball: They'll come with mere bundles and children coming to us for bread to eat. p64

-Heber C Kimball: One dreamed that given the choice between a bag of gold and a cat, a person would choose the cat as you can eat a cat. This may happen. p64

-Heber C. Kimball: risk of Saints famine since so many flee to west. Store extra food for them. p64

-Wilford Woodruff: We will want bread; if we are wise we will store enough for us and those who come to us for food. p65

-Brigham Young: no famine upon this people if we do right. p65

The Political Kingdom of God Will Be Established – Prophet Quote Summaries

(For references see pages indicated in Crowther's "Prophecy Key to the Future")

-Orson Pratt: They'll overthrow USA, we'll need our own government, all else will be mobs, we will base it on the US Constitution. p67

-George Q Cannon: The Church of God is separate from the Kingdom of God. p68

-Brigham Young: US Constitution won't be destroyed, at crucial time, the LDS "will hold it inviolate", and "save it from destruction". p68

-Orson Hyde: Joseph Smith said if the Constitution will be saved, it will be by this people. Hyde says if we are righteous, God will give us a Constitution. p68

-John Taylor: when US Constitution is torn to shreds, this people will hold it up to all nations and proclaim liberty for all. p69

-John Taylor: US Constitution is a design for a new world. p69

-Orson Pratt: US Constitution is a stepping stone toward higher government where God choses the leaders and is based on divine laws. p69

-D&C 65:2, 5-6: The Kingdom of God must go forth before the Kingdom of heaven can. p70

-Brigham Young: Joseph Smith organized the Kingdom of God completely and fully a few months before his death. It has its own constitution and officers which will be operating in the future. p70

-History of the Church: A council of 50 made for the kingdom of God. p70

-History of the Church: The council of 50 isn't part of the church, it is for political things and its members need not be LDS. It can't organize the church, only the Priesthood can do that. The Council of 50 sometimes is called the General Council. p70

-Brigham Young: The Kingdom of God is actually organized but won't be in operation till the Lord sees fit. p70

-Duane Crowther (author): The Kingdom of God like polygamy was source of antagonism for the LDS and Utah and hence is discontinued until needed. p72

-Brigham Young and George Q Cannon: Religious people can be a part of the political body which makes laws in the Kingdom of God. p72

-Brigham Young: The Kingdom of God is a republican form of government. The USA government represents theocratic government more than any other nation except with Israel elected a king. p73

-John Taylor: Church of God must be here before Kingdom of God (political) comes, for it can only exist with a people who have the spirit of revelation. p73

-Brigham Young: when we say theocracy is to come we mean its officers have the priesthood. p73

-George Q Cannon: The Kingdom of God will be to protect the rights of all people not just the LDS. p74

-Parley P Pratt: The political Kingdom of God will start small like a mustard seed and be in the mountains where a majority of Gods people are.

-Daniel H Wells: God will give the political Kingdom of God to the Saints when they've proven themselves capable of running it, having done well in every trial. p76

-John Taylor: When the nations are convulsed we are to redeem them politically as saviors and finally redeem a ruined world. p76

-John Taylor: The LDS will rule politically. One by one the nations will come against it and fall. p77

-Parley P Pratt: The political

Kingdom of God will come as other nations are falling. p77

-Statement from The Quorum of the Twelve Apostles: The time will come that as political Kingdom of God grows, all nations will either be for or against it. None will be neutral. Thus there will become a 1 political and religious standard - people will join and take lively interest with the LDS, or you'll do all in your power to stop them. p77

-Joseph Smith: England, Germany, Norway, Denmark, Sweden, Switzerland and Holland, these have blood of Israel in them and will submit to the Kingdom of God. England will be the last to do so. p78

-Parley P Pratt: The 10 Tribes know the prophecy of Abraham that in their seed will all the earth be blessed, and they will look to the spiritual and political kingdom of God as the group they will go to. It is there that the promise will be fulfilled. p78

-Brigham Young: Jesus Christ will rule all nations of earth by the Kingdom of God. The centers for this kingdom will be found in Zion (Missouri) and the Old Jerusalem. p78

-Orson Pratt: USA and all other governments will end and the Kingdom of God will rule all. The nucleus of that government is formed and is from God. Also all will respect this government and obey it. Its law will go forth from Zion to all like how now Washington DC sends the law to all USA. p79

-Charles W Penrose: The Kingdom of God will rule all earth and the LDS will rule it. All other kingdoms will be broken, like Nebukenezzer's dream. p80

No Freedom: Can't Trust Us to Build Our Own Elevators

I saw an elevator sign that read, 'Utah elevator permit stored in blah blah location'. I detest the idea that things without government permits aren't safe. Down with big government, up with free market innovation; if you need a permit, it's not free market. The more barriers to entry you place against business owners, the less incentive they have to create business. We don't need big brother always telling us what to do. If someone chooses to have bad elevators, it will be known 'don't go to that place' and their business will suffer. We don't need government to tell us how to act in the best interest of our customers. After all, we sort of like our customers, and want them to like us.

Healthcare in the Free Market

Why are hospitals and procedures expensive? Why do we need medical insurance? It boils down to one and only one factor: government overreach. Why? Because government requires a license to do just about anything.

If no license were required to execute various medical procedures, we would have practitioners who could offer basic services at very discounted prices.

An example is laser eye surgery. This procedure somehow was able to hit the market, and is a very low price now, such as $1000. Typically this procedure would be upwards of $50,000 in a typical hospital setting.

Very basic procedures are billed for a very high price. Why? Because someone with a license did it.

Then everyone jumps on the bandwagon. Everyone and their dog starts charging through the roof prices. The famous box of tissues in the hospital room is billed at a far surpassing price than the same box bought in the store.

If you need a highly technical procedure done, sure, get someone more expensive. But most healthcare services don't need to be so high priced. Anyone could train to effectively administer those services with some basic in-house training.

This leads to another issue: the medical establishment schools. Sure, some experts should know the ins and outs of every aspect of biochemistry pathophysiology and pharmacology. But most training could be on the job.

Hospitals and healthcare should be privatized by deregulating the healthcare industry. Hospitals can be privately rated, and people can choose for themselves which level of risk they take on their care. It's the same for auto mechanics: not all mechanics are equally expert, and word gets around of who is the best. Sure, sue them if they falsely represent themselves or lie. But there should be an option available for those who want discounted services and are willing to take a chance on it. Isn't driving a car dangerous? Are you going to trust the word of your mechanic that your ultra-fast machine is going to hold up? That's up to you, and so should your healthcare choices be.

I once saw a hospital elevator which said something to the effect of it having approval from the government. What?! They can't trust us to build our own elevators?

The issue is agency and inherent risk. It's ok for people to die sometimes. Shocker! The corrupt will eventually come to light and be punished, but the human race can only thrive on freedom. Any good economist will tell you there is a dollar amount each human life is worth – in other words, there comes a point where we can't keep dumping money into every little aspect of life to make sure it's 300% safe and sound. At some point you've got to get out there and take some risk! If you feel the risk is too great, seek an alternative. But don't legislate for laws that push everyone into your paranoid corner of uber-safety. "Not one shall be lost" is not the Lord's way. The Lord's way is to allow us to freely interact. Yes, some innocent will suffer, but it is the only way to greatness.

Imagine a society with wondrously cheap and effective healthcare. That is not our current society, it is a utopia. It is the eventual outcome of a free-market healthcare system.

Prophets Encourage Study of & Participation in Government

“..the Elders of Israel begin to understand that they have something to do with the world politically as well as religiously, that it is as much their duty to study correct political principles as well as religious, and to seek to know and comprehend the social and political interests of man...” [President John Taylor, JD 9:340]

here is another reason why prophets don't tell us everything: Mormon 1: 15-17 15 And I, being fifteen years of age and being somewhat of a sober mind, therefore I was visited of the Lord, and tasted and knew of the goodness of Jesus. 16 And I did endeavor to preach unto this people, but my mouth was shut, and I was forbidden that I should preach unto them; for behold they had willfully rebelled against their God; and the beloved disciples were taken away out of the land, because of their iniquity. 17 But I did remain among them, but I was forbidden to preach unto them, because of the hardness of their hearts; and because of the hardness of their hearts the land was cursed for their sake.

Why is the word on government quite for a while it seems? Perhaps the tares are being allowed to grow up with the wheat to not choke out the wheat while it is young and tender. Perhaps, as President Benson said, they speak little of politics at General Conference because we are a worldwide organization being watched by evil forces who seek ways to bring us down.

“The science of government is my duty to study, more than all other sciences; the arts of legislation and administration and negotiation ought to take place of, indeed to exclude, in a manner, all other arts. I must study politics and war, that my sons may have liberty to study mathematics and philosophy. My sons ought to study mathematics and philosophy, geography, natural history and naval architecture, navigation, commerce, and agriculture, in order to give their children a right to study painting, poetry, music, architecture, statuary, tapestry, and porcelain.” (John Adams writing to his wife; Quoted in Adrienne Koch, ed., The American Enlightenment [New York: George Braziller, 1965], pg. 188). (*Also Scott Bradley quoted this to Elder Oaks of the 12 Apostles who seemed enthused by it.)

October 1987 general conference talk “Our Divine Constitution” (see Ensign Magazine, November 1987) President Ezra Taft Benson quotes Joseph Smith, saying: “The Prophet Joseph Smith said: ‘t is our duty to concentrate all our influence to make popular that which is sound and good, and unpopular that which is unsound. ‘Tis right, politically, for a man who has influence to use it. ... From henceforth I will maintain all the influence I can get’” (History of the Church, 5:286).

he Church is politically neutral, yet it encourages members to be politically involved in a way that coincides with their religious values. (<http://www.mormonnewsroom.org/official-statement/political-neutrality>)

Voting Your Conscience Doesn't Violate Tolerance or Separation of Church & State

People confuse the separation of church and state to mean that you shouldn't be able to say any social policy with your church also happens to hold in the state realm.

For example, many people will not vote against gay marriage because they say of separation of church and state forbids it; they say, 'my church doesn't believe in gay marriage and so we're not going to vote for that.'

All the government is is a set of social constructs; if you refuse to voice your opinion on every social contract just because it's tied to religion, then your government will be one that will collapse on itself.

You need to do everything you can to preserve society from collapsing as a decent human being who doesn't want society to fall into anarchy.

You need to voice your opinion on social things; for example, some things are inherently wrong, all church aside. These can include incest rape homosexuality pedophilia murder theft and so forth; those are inherently wrong. Being those things makes you a bad person.

There are other things such as paying your tithing; if you don't pay your tithing, it doesn't make you a bad person, it just makes you a non-religious person. If you do not believe in Jesus Christ as the Savior, it does not make you a bad person, it just makes you a non-Christian person. Those are religious tenants, and we do not seek to make these religious items national law. However, we do seek to make important social standards into law.

For example - if you lived in a society where it was okay to have rape, how's that going to affect your children? It's going to brainwash them into thinking that rape is okay. Your society will collapse, so you morally ought to, as a decent human being, go to the polls and vote that no rape should be legal.

Children raised by non-biological parents do not even begin to compare with the success of children from biological parents. This is one of the many reasons that homosexual marriage is inherently harmful to children, and thus evil which would lead to the downfall of civilization as we know it.

We can say with great confidence that, all church aside, it is against social and biological human nature to be homosexual and we should not allow our society to embrace that lifestyle.

For more strong points in favor of voting your conscience, watch the video of this presentation which expounds to much greater detail.

Legalizing Evil: The Downfall of Nations in the Name of Tax Benefits

Some things should be illegal even if they are otherwise taxable, or even if they might go underground. We should not act in fear of things going underground. We should stand for good principles and let the cards lie where they call and use police to stop crime. If we don't like things going underground, we should lobby for a stronger police force, not for weaker standards. This is what Moroni did when threatened by the "king-men".

The church is oft against regulated legal evil as seen in their opposition to prop 8 (legalizing homosexual marriage), and Elder Quinton L. Cooks devotional a few weeks about "the banquet of all choices" (see speech at https://speeches.byu.edu/talks/quentin-l-cook_banquet-consequences-cumulative-result-choices/) speaks about how the movement to legalize marijuana for recreational use is evil.

In the same logic of legalizing drugs etc. so they don't go underground and give the bad guys the tax benefits, we may as well call for legalizing other bad activities that "are going to happen anyway" in the name of getting taxes to the US Government. We could legalize rape, child abuse, child pornography, prostitution, pornography, murder, etc. We may as well elect the Devil himself as President to not offend anyone! Surely, he will do a good job at representing the 1/3 minority... You see, some want to legalize these things so things that are already happening can be further regulated. But then we become the bad guy. This money is dirty money, and I want nothing to do with it! We want to get rid of drug cartels yes, but not by becoming the cartel ourselves! The USA needs to take a moral high ground, and not sink to the depravity of evil. You see, the ends do not justify the means!

Politically Correct VS Polite: Microaggression Isn't Aggressive

Sometimes people want to say that they are freedom fighters against political correctness, and excuse themselves in using foul language, saying that not swearing or being vulgar is just politically correct and thereby feeding into the political oppression of our time. There's a difference between the political correctness and common courtesy. Political correctness is filtering what you say because it's unpopular. It's never good to be politically correct and apologize for telling the truth. It's always good to tell the truth. It's also always good to be polite and use decent language. You aren't furthering the cause of truth by being vulgar.

Now for microaggression:

Microaggression means hurting someone's feelings for trying to get to know them better. I.e., ask them where they are from. This is entirely appropriate. It's like getting kids to eat broccoli: it may offend them, but it's entirely appropriate. Eventually the mature child will not be offended, and the mature adult won't be either. When someone is doing their best to love you, don't second guess their intentions. Aggression suggests violence & crime. Well do the scriptures say that in the last days men will call good evil. Everyone needs to deal with being embarrassed until they're mature enough to not be embarrassed. When someone says, 'you're from Utah, you must be Mormon!' Does this offend me (not all Utahns are Mormon, and the term Mormon isn't our preferred title!)? Have they been aggressive? Not in the slightest. I have more respect for people who ask me about myself than for people who are silent regarding their healthy curiosity. I've met people who get offended when I ask them about themselves, these are usually the immature group. I find most people I ask these questions to be thrilled that I'm taking an interest in them, and happily respond telling me all I asked, and more. This is thrilling humanity! So be patient when someone invites you over for tea and it's not your favorite flavor. And for God's sake, don't seek legislation to make them into criminals. If you're bothered by something, deal with it civilly, don't accuse innocent people of showing aggression, not even tiny or micro aggression. They're trying to be nice, and so should you.

Tax Cuts for the Big Do Help the Little, & Government Welfare Doesn't

Concerning Trump's 2018 Tax Cut Debate:

Joel Skousen, several attorneys & I defend lowering taxes.
Getting away from non-constitutional federal government welfare (forced redistribution of wealth)

Topics: tax, constitution, SSI, states' rights, federal system, 10th amendment, deficit, government welfare as forced redistribution of wealth, inflation as government thief

I commented on tax cuts for the big guy helping the little guy after all as seen in the Walmart wage increase result and bonuses given, accredited by Walmart to President Trump's tax cuts.

Response by someone against the tax cut:

“To bad we all pay for it. No one is arguing that it will raise the deficit 1.5 trillion. So how do we fix That? The republicans will gut social security and Medicare, all under the banner of saving us from the deficit they made.”

My response:

“Interesting thanks (name). It seems to keep up with the federal spending we have no choice but to be heavily taxed, perhaps fed spending could go down, as for SSI and Medicare, gutting that would be a hard blow, I’m not sure of a good way to transition out of that. Perhaps just regulating who gets SSI etc. more strictly would be a big step forward, like more auditing of people who receive these and other benefits to see if they’re really in need, and perhaps throwing in a volunteer requirement. I heard M Savage say immigrants now come here for welfare rather than to work and climb, do you think there’s any truth to that? The ACA is an interesting thing that I don’t know a lot about, though it seems insurance companies will manipulate anything they can. Thanks again”

Another Response by someone against the tax cut:

” SSI is paid for by payments on ur income, as u probably know, so it is not an entitlement. The issue is Republicans have borrowed billions from the SSI fund which they cannot payback and this contributed to the debt. Second, I would really want you to really learn who benefits from Medicare and Medicaid, welfare, food stamps, etc. These are not freeloaders, there is a very small group that games the system but not nearly the amount they try and make u think. I agree with the volunteer for welfare benefits, but it needs to be closely monitored and well directed to ensure it doesn’t hurt those we are trying to help. I wrote a 20+ page paper on the ACA. If u would like I can try and find it for u. It compares our medical system to the rest of the world. And some cool knowledge for you. Welfare accounts for only 3% of the GDP. It was at a high of 4.7% during the recession, 2005 ish, and is expected to be 2% by 2020. Military is between 3.5 to 4%, healthcare about 4.3%. These are huge amounts of money but not half or more like some untruthful talking heads want people to think. Just food for thought.”

In this debate, I asked some attorneys and Joel Skousen their thoughts, particularly refuting the commentator against the tax cuts, their responses are listed below.

Response by conservative political analyst Joel Skousen of WorldAffairsBrief.com:

“First of all, every administration has robbed the SS fund, not just republicans. Second, there is no backing for the statement that Republicans are going to gut SS and Medicare to pay for the deficit. Three, SS benefits need to be limited to the amount people paid in, adjusted for the inflation that robbed them of partial value while in the hands of government. All his other arguments are irrelevant to the issue that all welfare is forced redistribution by government and improper.”

Response by conservative civil Attorney Chad Shattuck:

“I don’ know the numbers well enough to debate them, and as we know, nobody wins an argument. ...it is my belief that lowering taxes will stimulate more purchasing because every person and company has more money available for such and all such purchases will be taxed, so there is much more revenue from that source than there would be from simply trying to tax our country out of overspending issues. Certainly this will not be the solution in and of itself and needs to be coupled with cuts to unnecessary government spending. To reduce debt, reduce spending, don’t tax more. Proponents of higher taxes are muck like a breadwinner giving the the person he supports a credit card and planning to outwork the spending – typically not a good idea. Better to spend less.”

Response by conservative Air Force Attorney Darrin K Johns:

“I don’t believe he has all of his facts correct. He relies on some of the Democrats bullet points.

First off, we do not all agree that the deficit will increase by $1.5 trillion. No one knows at this point. The CBO has predicted the rise, but the CBO has been wrong in the past and fails to properly account for the total increased revenue coming in from changes in business practices. For example, even though the goal was to bring businesses back to the US, a lot of people were surprised when Apple announced it was bring $3.2 billion dollars back into the US from overseas. Huge amount that was not calculated into the CBP predictions. Other companies are following suit. Many liberals were surprised when Walmart announced it would increase its wages, give $1000 bonuses to its employees and hire more employees after the new tax plan was announced. Many other companies are following suit. Conservatives predicted this, liberals are surprised by it. But it just makes sense. Tax cuts in the past have increased revenue, not decreased it, because companies tend to hire and invest more when taxes are lower, increasing the number of people being employed and the number of smaller businesses being created, creating more taxpayers and more tax revenue. It’s plain and simple basic economics. When taxes are too high, the economy is out of equilibrium (same when taxes get too low). You have got to find the equilibrium where you are able to collect the most revenue and not begin losing revenue because the tax rate is too high.

As for social security, I agree with him that Social Security is not an entitlement. We paid into the system and the system should pay us back as promised. I disagree with his statement that makes it appear only Republicans have robbed the system. Yes, Republicans have inappropriately taken money out of the social security system, but Democrats have as well and to an even greater extent. Social Security will probably change from what we have now, but it will not go away. Too many depend on it. Over 80% of the current US population live paycheck to paycheck with nothing saved for retirement. The basic question should be why do we have social security and Medicare in the first place? Nothing in the Constitution gives the Federal government authority to create or manage these programs. And the Federal Government is supposed to be tightly limited in its power and authority. The 10th Amendment specifically states that if a power is not specifically delegated to the Federal Government by the Constitution, the Federal Government does not have the power; only the States and the people have the power. So while Social Security and Medicare may be good ideas, these programs should be State programs, not Federal Programs, if they exist at all. Some will say “But the States would have different programs and the people in one State would not get all the benefits that someone in another State would.” To that I say, “You are absolutely correct and that is how it is supposed to be.” Our government was designed to be most effective at the local level where the representatives of the people would be held more accountable. If you don’t like the way your State is being run, change the politicians or leave to another State. That is exactly what we the people advocated for with the founding and adopting of the Constitution.”

Voting for a Good (Even Minor) Candidate

Hyrum Smith: “We engage in the election the same as in any other principle: you are to vote for good men, and if you do not do this it is a sin: to vote for wicked men, it would be sin. Choose the good and refuse the evil. Men of false principles have preyed upon us like wolves upon helpless lambs. (History of the Church, Vol.6, Ch.15, p. 323.)

In the April 2021 Sunday afternoon general conference, Elder Oaks said sometimes its ok to vote for someone even if that person has flaws or other policies which you don't like. The judgement call must be on a case by case basis by each individual. This being said, there are some issues I personally don't feel comfortable with when a candidate supports them, such as abortion, even if some of their other policies might be good. To me it would be like saying, “I will kill a million babies, but I'll lower your taxes.” Etc. I like lower taxes, but not at the cost of killing babies (a hypothetical situation).

If you vote x to keep out y, I don't judge you for that even though it's not usually my philosophy. There is something to be said about compromise, as we see from the Founding Fathers, but where a person draws that line is between him and God. I'm sure you're all doing your best, and God bless you. Remember if you disagree with me, I'm merely likewise doing my best. Do you think you're right? Everyone thinks they are right, else they would not hold that opinion which they hold!

Again I stress that if you disagree with me that's ok and I'm always your loyal friend. The art of friendship does not require the same strokes of the brush from each master (though we must beware which type of master we are/serve). This is a complex issue worthy of lengthy study, prayer, and pondering of the mainly the scriptures.

-I usually vote with the Constitution Party, see the Constitution Party website <http://www.constitutionparty.com>

-“Wherefore, honest men and wise men should be sought for diligently, and good men and wise men ye should observe to uphold; otherwise whatsoever is less than these cometh of evil” (D&C 98:10)

-The LDS Church is politically neutral: Here is a quote from the Church Newsroom:

“The Church does not:

Endorse, promote or oppose political parties, candidates or platforms.

Allow its church buildings, membership lists or other resources to be used for partisan political purposes.

Attempt to direct its members as to which candidate or party they should give their votes to. This policy applies whether or not a candidate for office is a member of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Attempt to direct or dictate to a government leader.

“The Church does:

Encourage its members to play a role as responsible citizens in their communities, including becoming informed about issues and voting in elections. Expect its members to engage in the political process in an informed and civil manner, respecting the fact that members of the Church come from a variety of backgrounds and experiences and may have differences of opinion in partisan political matters.

Request candidates for office not to imply that their candidacy or platforms are endorsed by the Church.

Reserve the right as an institution to address, in a nonpartisan way, issues that it believes have significant community or moral consequences or that directly affect the interests of the Church.”

see <http://www.mormonnewsroom.org/official-statement/political-neutrality>

-*So you see, the church saying they are politically neutral. HOWEVER they aren't morally neutral.

– “We must be devoted to sound principles in word and deed: principle above party, principle above pocketbook, principle above popularity.” (Ezra Taft Benson, America’s Challenge. God, Family, Country)

-“Unlike the political opportunist, the true statesman values principle above popularity, and works to create popularity for those political principles which are wise and just” (Ezra Taft Benson, The Proper Role of Government)

-See also “Dare to Stand Alone” by Thomas S Monson, Conf. Report, 2011 October.

-“members are encouraged to register to vote, to study issues and candidates carefully, and to vote for individuals whom they believe will act with integrity and sound judgment. Latter-day Saints have a special obligation to seek out, vote for, and uphold leaders who are honest, good, and wise (see D&C 98:10)” (Church handbook #2, 21.1.29)

-“Now, I am not caring today, for myself, anything at all about a political party tag. So far as I am concerned, I want to know what the man stands for ... When I find out these things, when I know who it is who should receive my support, and I care not what his party tag is... Today, our duty transcends party allegiance; our duty today is allegiance to the Constitution as it was given to us by the Lord.” (J. Reuben Clark, Jr., CR 10/62:8)

-“We honor our founding fathers of this republic for the same reason. God raised up these patriotic partners to perform their mission, and he called them “wise men.” (see D&C 101:80.) The First Presidency acknowledged that wisdom when they gave us the guideline a few years ago of supporting political candidates “who are truly dedicated to the Constitution in the tradition of our Founding Fathers.” (Ezra Taft Benson, Deseret News, November 2, 1964.) .

-“Good candidates, if not supported, will not generally stand again. They may even lose money when not supported. What does this do in the long term? It promotes the lowest common denominator. The candidates grow worse, generally, over time.” (D.M. Andrews on November 2, 2012, as seen on LDS Liberty Blog in Article “Why You Vote For Someone Matters”, comments section, at <http://www.ldsliberty.org/why-you-vote-for-someone-matters/>)

-“”The idea is this: The Lord has never told us we are responsible for making sure a certain someone makes it into the White House as President. The Lord, instead, has commanded that we vote a certain way. When we obey Him and vote that way, we have every right to ask Him to bless our nation. When we take it upon ourselves to vote for the lesser of two evils, or vote for person “x” just so that person “z” doesn’t win, then we are sinning, and will be held accountable. Also the Lord will not bless our nation for it. We have no right to turn to Him and ask for such a blessing. Our faith and trust in God and the miracles that He can bring about, must be stronger than our fear of who will win the presidency.

As ETB stated, even if the worse possible candidates wins, the Lord will still bless America MORE, because more people were willing to stand up and vote the right way.

If the Lord promised Abraham to spare Sodom and Gomorrah if Abraham could find peradventure just 10 righteous people, then He can bless America if we can find peradventure a majority of us who are willing to obediently vote in the manner the Lord prescribed (through his scripture but also through His servants). I trust the Lord. Sadly, though, too many people find this paradigm shift too difficult to make. It is the last days for sure.” (Teri on October 12, 2016, as seen on LDS Liberty Blog in Article “Why You Vote For Someone Matters”, comments section, at <http://www.ldsliberty.org/why-you-vote-for-someone-matters/>)

-“Always vote for principle, though you may vote alone, and you may cherish the sweetest reflection that your vote is never lost.” (John Quincy Adams As quoted in Pocket Patriot : Quotes From American Heroes (2005) edited by Kelly Nickell)

-“Wherefore, honest men and wise men should be sought for diligently, and good men and wise men ye should observe to uphold; otherwise whatsoever is less than these cometh of evil” (D&C 98:10). (Some commentary on the above quote from ldsliberty.org, about how voting against someone by voting for a lesser of two evils is bad logic: “The Doctrine and Covenants goes so far to say that we vote for honesty and wisdom and that whatever is “less than these cometh of evil.” When voting anti-enemy, there are no fundamental or necessary thoughts of voting for anything at all – let alone honesty and wisdom. An anti-enemy approach pays no mind to whether the person we have chosen to support has any standard of honesty or wisdom whatsoever, for the anti-enemy approach fundamentally exclaims that “anyone but [insert your most hated candidate] will do.”” (See <http://www.ldsliberty.org/why-you-vote-for-someone-matters/>))

-“... to vote for wicked men, it would be sin,” said Hyrum Smith. (Documentary History of the Church, vol. 6, p. 323.)

-“We engage in the election the same as in any other principle; you are to vote for good men, and if you do not do this it is a sin; to vote for wicked men, it would be sin. Choose the good and refuse the evil. Men of false principles have preyed upon us like wolves upon helpless lambs. Damn the rod of tyranny; curse it. Let every man use his liberties according to the constitution. Don’t fear man or devil; electioneer with all people, male and female, and exhort them to do the thing that is right. We want a President of the U.S., not a Party president, but a President of the whole people; for a Party president disfranchises the opposite party. Have a President who will maintain every man in his rights” (History of the Church, Vol. 6, Ch. 15, p. 323; emphasis added).

(Some commentary on the above quote from ldsliberty.org, about how voting against someone by voting for a lesser of two evils is bad logic: “Notice that Smith did not say that we are to vote against wicked men, but that we, in reality, are voting for either good or wicked men. Voting against something is an illusion, as we – as Children of God (agents to act and not be acted upon) – are consistently working for something, even when in our world-view and perception we are standing anti-enemy in fighting against something. We are to look at politics in the same pro-liberty, pro-freedom, and pro-kingdom of God way that we engage every other principle. We are to vote for good men. Anything else is sin. Men of false principle, Hyrum explains, present themselves as “Party presidents” who “disfranchise the opposite party”. In other words, “Party presidents” promote the anti-enemy approach that we commonly see in the political process. We may believe that in our anti-enemy approach we are fighting for truth, but, in reality, we are engaging in idolatry.” (See <http://www.ldsliberty.org/why-you-vote-for-someone-matters/>)

– This quote I suppose could point a person to the 2-party system: “Another guideline given by the First Presidency was “to support good and conscientious candidates, of either party, who are aware of the great dangers” facing the free world.” (Deseret News, November 2, 1964.) (Ezra Taft Benson, 1972 April General Conference, Civic Standards for the Faithful Saints. See <https://www.lds.org/general-conference/1972/04/civic-standards-for-the-faithful-saints?lang=eng>)

-“Fortunately we have materials to help us face these threatening dangers in the writings of President David O. McKay and other church leaders. Some other fine sources by LDS authors attempting to awaken and inform us of our duty are: Prophets, Principles, and National Survival (Jerreld L. Newquist), Many Are Called But Few Are Chosen (H. Verlan Andersen), and The Elders of Israel and the Constitution (Jerome Horowitz).” (Ezra Taft Benson, 1972 April General Conference, Civic Standards for the Faithful Saints. See <https://www.lds.org/general-conference/1972/04/civic-standards-for-the-faithful-saints?lang=eng>)

-“In the next canvas we shall be influenced by no party consideration...the partisans in this county who expect to divide the friends of humanity and equal rights will find themselves mistakes — we care not a fig for Whig or Democrat; they are both alike to us; but we shall go for our friends, our tried friends, and that cause of human liberty which is the cause of God. We are aware that ‘divide and conquer’ is the watchword with many, but with us it cannot be done — we love too well — we have suffered too much to be easily duped — we have no cat’s paws amongst us.” (Joseph Smith, Times & Seasons – 3:651)

-More commentary from ldsliberty.org about the bad logic of ‘voting for the lesser of two evils’: “Voting for the lesser of two evils is also an anti-enemy approach to politics and is also a form of idolatry. This approach stipulates that A is bad, but B is worse, so I will vote against B and accept A. The deception here masks the anti-enemy approach of voting for the lesser of two evils by arguing that because the individual shares more in common with A than B, then he is somehow voting for A – when in reality he is voting against B.

This may seem counterintuitive, for we often perceive that we have a basic, common, and fundamental set of principles that we use to make value judgments regarding who we will support. In other words, an individual might say that he is actually voting for A for various reasons found in that person, and that this individual finds more reasons to vote for A than for B between seemingly “viable” candidates. Therefore, as this individual might say, he will vote for those common reasons found in A and not necessarily against B at all. If this is actually the case, then there is no problem – so long as there is not another candidate who more perfectly reflects this individual’s personal beliefs who is not rationalized away as an “unviable” candidate (else the case of idolatry returns).

“I like almost everything A says over B,” I hear many people say, “but I disagree more with C than B, and knowing that A isn’t going to win, I am going to vote for B.” Did you catch what is going on here? Do you see the cognitive dissonance? This example demonstrates the inconsistent and rotating view that most people hold, as they alternate almost effortlessly between pro-liberty and anti-enemy approaches.”

-“The American system does allow for candidates other than the Republican and Democrat candidates to win – it is never a 2-person race.” (D.M. Andrews on November 2, 2012, as seen on LDS Liberty Blog in Article “Why You Vote For Someone Matters” at , <http://www.ldsliberty.org/why-you-vote-for-someone-matters/>)

-“You will have to stand before God for your choice one day, like other choices. Did you vote on conscience for what was right, or did you vote for the lesser of two evils?” (D.M. Andrews on November 2, 2012, as seen on LDS Liberty Blog in Article “Why You Vote For Someone Matters” at , <http://www.ldsliberty.org/why-you-vote-for-someone-matters/>)

-Supposedly Ezra Benson said this to Mike Thompson, “Pres. Benson, when we were sitting in his office in the Church Office Building many years ago told me this after discussing many issues: ‘Mike, if you vote for the lesser of two evils you are still voting for evil and you will be judged for it. You should always vote for the best possible candidate, whether they have a chance of winning or not. Then, even if the worst possible candidate wins, the Lord will bless our nation more because more people were willing to stand up for what is right.”

-I spoke to Joel Skousen about how he casts his vote. He says he always vote 3rd party, unless there is a very close call where a democrat would otherwise be elected.

The Anti-Socialist: Applied Fields of Parenting, Labor, Religion, & School

Sections:

Parenting
Labor
Religion
School

"Reality is the only escape from reality"

(You must work your way out of your problems rather than averting the responsibility for your success somewhere else)

Parenting:

Is it a reflection of the socialist trend to have children with no duties? To not require them to perform, to grow up, to love duty and accomplishment? Many call for children only to play. Many seek to eliminate all consequences. Many say the parent should not have authority but should only be a subtle mentor. I say let the parent preach the gospel in its fullness to his children, including the doctrines of industry and thrift.

Further the antisocialist parent will not seek to avoid his share of work in the home. He will cook and clean and teach and play and do all things needed. He will ensure sufficient funds and satisfaction are common in his household.

Let it be remembered that a parent must take into account the tender feelings of children, and their inability to perform with exactness every command, unlike what could be expected of an adult.

May the parent consider that he is, like every other field, constantly observed by a panel of judges. In the parent is in the household of faith, the parent must be accountable to every just standard. This being said, let the parent not slacken his arm, and let the parent grant not only justice, but mercy. May the parent know that the child develops slowly across the years, and thus patience is to be afforded.

The spirit of freedom or capitalism also requires giving agreeable rewards for one's contributions, and the child to contribute a lot or a little based on one's desire for reward. It suggests that things and privileges should rarely be given for free (though feeding and love are inherent rights of children to receive from parents). A parent should reward a child by positive compliments for their good behaviors and may even consider giving money as reward for various duties, as money is the expression of choice, meaning they can choose their most desired activity with the money they accumulate. It also follows that giving a "free allowance" which one does nothing to merit is an unjust and terrible idea which creates in one's soul a dance of entitlement that shall greatly hinder them in life. One of children's favorite rewards is time playing with parents.

Though parenting brings life's sweetest experiences, it can at times be wearying. It can seem like giving without receiving. The parent must remember the spiritual nature of parenting, and apply unto God for peace in this life, and eternal life in the life to come. The perspective of the latter-day saint reached far past the scope of this life, and sees the crosses of this life are the crowns of the next.

Labor:

Another way to not be a socialist is to get your work done and do it early. All things assigned to you. There is no reason why you can't get As. You have plenty of time, you just waste it on micromanaging the kids or the house etc. Be a good business man and have all things organized in your business. Your desk is where you work, and you get work done at your desk. Work enough to make a fire there. I must spend hours a day in school, organizing it myself, for their weak requirements will not bring good grades. They don't know how to give appropriate assignments etc. The starting gun has shot, the race has begun. All things else must be minimized. Whatever your business is, you must take it seriously. You can begin side businesses if your business isn't demanding enough.

Religion:

False doctrines in religious culture teach irresponsibility with money, and not full commitment to one's career. Yes, family and charity, but also fully industry and thrift. Honest work to produce and give quality product is how we help the world. We are Atlas, not the freeloaders. When we say the word mercy the word repentance should be right behind it. We do not seek to enable freeloaders, we seek to remediate them.

School:

To go to school as a commitment an investment of time it's like taking out a Financial loan but instead of dollars your promising time they'll give you the degree but you have to give time so you have to spend the time to do what is required if you spend your time and other things postponing the payment of time then you will fail you can only use I'm in other things if you are on top of the schedule of payments toward the commitment of school time further this method of staying in front of the payment instead of behind it is the way to eliminate much of the anxiety and the anxiety prohibits learning and learning in the end is what you must do to succeed in that field.

School is a special season wherein one drives hard as ever at a thing, then it ends. One makes that course his business and does everything in his power to make that business thrive. That is the main thing in his world at that time. Remember that career related things which school is, takes precedence over church service etc. A man has chars her who works hard to be good at what he does. He owns it and will not trade it away but takes pride in it.

The Perfect Law of Liberty by Marion G. Romney – Lecture Highlights

-Joseph Smith though captive in almost every other way, enjoyed the liberty of the soul. He was persecuted like Paul.

-Don't rely on the government to take care of you. Use your own skill and industry to become independent.

-Ancient Israel in the Book of Genesis failed to use their own thrift and industry to prepare for a time of need, and had to hence buy food for the government until they ran out of food, then they sold themselves as slaves to the government for food when they ran out of money.

-Choices we make can give us more or less liberty. Those who get addicted to things loose liberty.

Religious Freedom Presentation by the Church, 2013 – Lecture Highlights

Here are some things I found meaningful from this presentation paraphrased in my own words. They cite several recent abuses of freedom of religion in a big way.

- freedom from religion doesn't mean freedom from religion.
- It's not right when others want to silence you because you don't agree with them.
- If you can't manifest your beliefs they lose a great deal of their meaning.
- Religious freedom is essential for human dignity, economy, and democracy.
- This film shows many reports of Christians being persecuted
- not being allowed to wear a cross at work,
- at Rutgers University not being able to require leaders of Christian clubs to be Christian
- graphs showing increase of religious restrictions
- forcing doctors to give abortion drugs even though the state could easily refer the people who want that elsewhere.
- Nashville at Vanderbilt University bans Christian groups from campus.
- In Nashville at Vanderbilt University Christian clubs are told to quit whining and meet in their homes like they do in communist China.
- Christians kicked off campus at Brown University
- Innkeepers and photographers sued for refusing to service some people against their religion
- New Mexico photographer's religious freedom case goes to State Supreme Court
- one photographer fined 7,000 $ for not filming a homosexual wedding
- freedom of conscience is the right to not have to do something that violates the principals God has given you
- learn about your friends' religious beliefs; don't make fun of other religions
- you don't need any special training to get involved and speak up for these rights. You just need an interest.
- in the 21st century we can't flee any longer, we are going to have to fight for religious freedom, and principals contained in it. (Elder Holland)
- defend religious liberty so it can be a beacon for morality (Elder Cook)
- defend religion on the internet etc. Be an active participant not a silent observer. (Elder Cook)

-use Facebook, Twitter, etc. online
-the Lord will put us in positions to help others learn of religious freedom
-Joseph Smith said he is as ready to die for any religion being trampled on, nor just LDS, because those who kill religious rights for one religion kill them for other religions.

On Conspiracy & Staying in The Church: Responding to Christian Markham's Two Churches Only Vol. 2

This is my response to the author of "There Are Save Two Churches Only" Christian Markham, a latter-day saint author now parted from the church. I very much enjoyed vol. 1 which showed political conspiracy, I did not enjoy vol. 2 which suggested the church is a part of that conspiracy. In some correspondence with Christian, I wrote this about my feelings on his second volume. A theme of this essay is that we should be skeptical of materials published against the good name of the church and its leaders. Another theme is that focusing on growing & ministering to one's family is more important than doing research. Possible reasons are considered for various perplexing things like church finance, strange handshakes seen by church leaders, the role of priesthood judges, and God permitting political conspirators to continue at large generally unexposed by the church. For an interesting lecture by brother Markham, see the audio download lectures at latterdayconservative.com

...I'm currently reading the "Crucible of Doubt" by Givens which brings up some interesting ideas of not taking things at face value but praying about their truth on one's own. I assume you're well versed in Nibley studies. He seemed to have lots of things against the church yet remained in it and defended its core message, seeing it as God's church even if it had imperfect members. Nibley was a genius with intellect surpassing what I will likely attain in this life. I don't worship him or call him an authority but I revere his work and have found it intellectually consistent so far as I can tell.

... I like you anxiously anticipate the second coming of Jesus Christ where things can be more transparent and fair for everyone. Until then, I have a very hard time believing half the things I read, especially those critical of the church. People against the church are just as liable to err in data as those in the church. This being said, I'm going with my gut (and every other compass I can conjure) and staying in the church. You likely see this as shortsighted and immature, but it's all I've got, and I believe it is enough.

I used to focus on the nitty gritty of doctrines of church and government. Now my focus is on taking care of my wife and children. I have 5 children and plan to adopt more in the near future. We do foster care and homeschool and find great real need there. They are my focus. They, not my research, are the substance of my life. If I'm to leave any trace of good will towards men on this earth, I'm going to do it in an area I know is important, to me that's family. I used to want to have a career in teaching seminary or in being a therapist or as a statesman. Now I've backed away from those as they are too controversial. I think the real impact is in the home, so I'm trying to establish as big a home as I can. By this I don't mean square footage, but rather number of children... I suppose that different people have different life callings so I don't fault those who chose to more fully devote themselves to research etc.

So far as the church goes, I wish I had more thoughtful things for you and could get into more complex discussions on the details of all this but like I said my focus has shifted from that stuff to my family. When I get interviewed by God after this life I think the conversation is going to be mostly about how I treated my wife and children, what I did to help them be compassionate humans. I still enjoy research, but it now takes the back seat and is more of a hobby. Taking my kids to church helps them make good choices. Giving priesthood blessings to my children seems to help them make more good choices and be of a better disposition. I live in a small town and ward members look out for each other. I feel God's presence when inside temples, and leave temples with better decision-making capability.

President Thomas S. Monson added helping the poor as a 4th mission of the church, I like that idea of shifting our focus from just spiritual ministry to also temporal ministry (though I reject the idea that we should need to spoil ourselves and others with every convenience) I'm also still struggling through college for my nursing degree so that takes lots of time too. The past 5 years I've been at BYU which has been great for research but (in my case) not for career. I know I have a serious duty to both preach the gospel and influence the masses to righteous politics, but that stuff has to be set aside a bit for now. All I can eek out these days is an article now and then. I foresee more time for these things after college.

I don't want to get into debates or belittle your research, but I will say I think some of the things I found in your vol 2 could have been circumstantial and answered with more insider info. We are spectators with limited info. Perhaps spectators should be able to get their hands-on transparent info, but like the military, it may be wise for some things not to be fully transparent in church government like how I'm not fully transparent with my children because they aren't ready for full transparency. The handshakes could have been attempts of people shaking the hand to make the church look bad, or an old person misplacing his hand carelessly, or some ignorant appreciation of modern free masonry (or some brotherly gesture given from one person to another in the language they appreciate like that of free masonry).

Perhaps in The wisdom if god, God doesn't insist on his prophets knowing (or preaching about) all conspiracies, but rather uses them for other general purposes. Perhaps the conspiracies are so large that it is not the goal of the church to simply throw down against conspiracy, but to rather spend their time telling people to be good as best they can like Daniel in Babylon . Perhaps the conspiracies will only be ended at the coming of Christ with the burning. Perhaps the prophets know of the conspiracies but aren't allowed to speak of them because we would stone them. Perhaps we are as a people so bad at living gospel basics that God is letting the conspirators rule the world to punish the more wicked of us and to try the faith of the more righteous of us. We live in the most wicked planet and in the most wicked era it's no wonder that God is very limited as to what he can do even with Israel at this time. The issues with church finances are far beyond me, though generally speaking I have no issue with the church having loads of cash to eventually be an independent kingdom. Generally speaking, I don't have an issue with the doctrines of judges in Israel and delegation of authority. Any errors in those scenarios can be cleared up in the next life. It seems that the main work / impact of the church is what happens in local ward's rather than by general authorities , preaching, or policy.

Also it's been several years since I read your books, so I don't have all the points on my mind to speak of today. I don't and won't have answers to most of the issues but I'm very skeptical of how cunning people outside of the church can twist statistics and scenarios to frame people/the church. I'm a regular subscriber to Joel Skousen's world affairs brief, and that has taught me that the level of deceptions used by bad people are almost beyond comprehension. I'm not a master of statistics nor do I have time to drill through the tiny details to find the errors loaded into lots of these studies to see which are true and which are false.

I believe Joseph said that if we stay with the majority of the 12 we won't be led astray. You likely already have, but i hope you've brought your findings to stake presidents, BYU scholars, and church headquarters for discussion. I like you wish things were better , but it is at least enjoyable to speak with a fellow brother and to relish the promises of the plan of salvation.”

James Madison Quote, The Right to Bear Tanks

James Madison's letter of marque and reprisal. He explains that a merchant ship can carry cannons to defend itself.

The point is that we should be able to have whatever we need to defend ourselves. We should not be limited to knives in a gun fight.

Ezra Taft Benson Government View Brief

Benson is a former President of the Church of Jesus Christ and worked for US Dept. of Agriculture under US President Eisenhower. These are some notes I jotted while listening to some of his lectures on government.

-socialism and communism are worst evil of our time and conspiring to get us they are super sneaky.

-when one works harder and thus has more than his neighbor, he can give of his extra and teach his neighbor as he wills, but he is not forced to, since PROPERTY is a divine right of humans. If a 3rd person walks up and sees one man with more than the other and takes from the one with more and gives it to the one with less and merely says, "Here be happy!" To the man with less, it's bad.

-the government is for doing what the people have power to do but not time to do it in so they hire someone to defend God given rights like life and property.

-It's not bad for church people to say how they feel about politics. Much of the bible is prophets condemning political leaders. (*also I note that Hugh Nibley said an honest man will say how he feels)

-The Book of Mormon has no conspiracy theories, they are conspiracy facts.

-Separation of Church and state is necessary, and it means that there be no church that is in charge of the government.

-We need to learn more about government by reading out of the best books so we can better be involved.

-It's our civic and religious duty to be involved in local government and national government.

-Never have the bigger level of government come in and do what the smaller level of government can do.

-Government subsidies for anything are bad. Be it for school or anything.

Communist Leader VS Latter-day Saint Missionary: “The Melbourne Man” - Full Text

Marion Albert Law worked in the LDS Church Educational system for many years. He worked with BYU President Wilkerson in the 1960's and 70's, and often worked closely with the First Presidency and Apostles on a variety of matters.

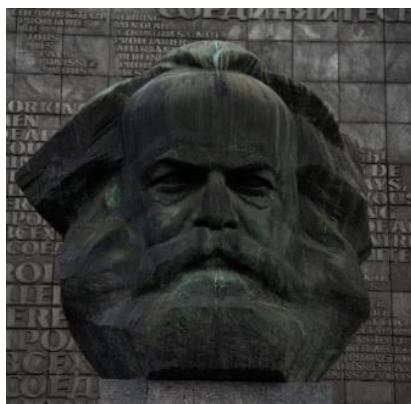

Back in 1983, he gave a fireside in which he detailed an extremely unique experience as an LDS missionary serving in Melbourne, Australia back in 1947. A recording was made of this fireside, which was transcribed into text and posted online at a few LDS-based websites. However, his talk meanders a bit mid-topic, has some unintelligible moments [from either a poor or degraded recording], and parts of it do not flow well as a narrative.

As interest in his story grew, in 2010 Brother Marion Law composed a tighter, more direct retelling. The following is a complete reproduction of this 2010 autobiographical account³ (emphasis added):

“In 1947, I was a 21-year-old missionary Elder, for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. My assignment was in Melbourne, Australia. My companion and I were going door-to-door in a quaint little section of the city. The lanes were narrow and wandered around, with no sense of plan at all.

“Missionaries are not supposed to leave their companions for any reason. But here in this compact area, we decided to each take a side of the lane.

Opportunities to teach anyone were so rare that we thought it wise to cover as much territory as possible. If a friendly reaction was received by one of us, the other would cross the street to share in the visit. Usually, we could see each other every minute and could almost touch hands across the lane. So the plan was working well, as we doubled our tracting efficiency.

“At one door, a man answered and said yes, he would like to hear more about our beliefs. I looked for my companion, but he had disappeared. So I tried to stall until the Elder came back. He had obviously gone around one of the numerous meanderings and should reappear at any moment. I explained that my companion would be back in a minute or two. (Much later, I discovered that around the corner was a “milk bar”, where he had gone for a milk shake while he waited for me. The Elder assumed that since I was right behind him, I would soon show up there.)

“After a few more minutes, the man became impatient and said, “I don’t talk standing in the lane. If you’re not interested, never mind.”

“So I said, “Okay, I’ll come in.” My intention was to visit briefly, make an appointment, and return with my wandering companion.

“As I began to explain our purpose, he interrupted, “Mr. Law, we have a better plan.” So I asked about his “better plan”.

“The Melbourne man, as I call him, described how Plato, an ancient Greek philosopher, had designed a different kind of society. This man’s plan would follow similar lines. There would be three classes of people: the leaders, the workers, and the teachers. The teachers would be trained to condition a sinless society (“...as you call sin...”, he said) – there would be no hate, no greed, no jealousy, no envy, no lust, no malice – no sin. The workers would not be envious of the leaders. The leaders would not oppress the workers. The teachers would condition each class to willingly accept their assigned role in this “perfect” society.

“The Melbourne man further described how breeders would be chosen, based on superior intelligence, physical perfection and longevity genes. Children would be taken from their mothers at birth and placed in communal nurseries, and through various tests, their classes would be determined. They would then receive specialized conditioning for that particular class. All defective babies had to be eliminated. The total number of births would need to be controlled to prevent overpopulation and depletion of natural resources. By this selective breeding, a master race of geniuses could be created.

“Worker-scientists were assigned to research life extension techniques until future generations could “live forever”. Through space research, they would reach out into the universe to develop planets hospitable to human life. This perfect society then spreads throughout space in a never-ending cycle.

“I asked, “How will you condition them?” He then explained, in detail, the basic conditioning tools. They included diet, drugs, music, movies, education, etc.

“He described how diet (the basic elements of life, food and water) could be a major desensitizing and conditioning instrument. The Melbourne man said that by using additives and special formulas, by changing plants and animals [i.e. chemicals, hormones, genetically engineered seed (GMO), etc], the diet of the people leaves them submissive and easily controlled.

“When that man told me that the materials, systems and procedures were already in place in 1947, my farm-boy mentality refused to accept it. Especially when he explained drug addiction. He outlined how drug addiction changes personalities, making them so dependent that they will agree to anything to satisfy their needs. I protested that people will not allow themselves to be manipulated that way. He just laughed and said, “Mr. Law, you’re such a child. Wait and see.”

“I did not see how music could be used. The man then described “melodic dissonance” for me, in detail. He told of the conditioning experiments of the Russian scientist Pavlov in communist Russia, using dogs and metronomes. Pavlov found that he could condition a dog to salivate when a metronome beat at 60 beats per minute. Then he learned that he could condition the same dog to never produce saliva when the metronome beat at 120 beats per minute.

“In another experiment with the same dog, Pavlov had both metronomes beating at the same time, one at 60 beats, the other at 120 beats per minute. The conditioned dog was required to do two totally opposite functions at the same time. This produced nervous shock, and the dog collapsed, unconscious.

“Next, with the same dog, Pavlov had the 60-beat metronome suddenly jump to 120 beats per minute. At the same instant, the 120-beat metronome dropped to 60 beats per minute. This produced a melodic dissonance. When the metronomes were switched back and forth rapidly, the dog became so distressed that it died. In communist Russia, these experiments were then extended to humans, with similar results.

“Using variations of this melodic dissonance, a new music form was created. Musical scores and lyrics were developed. A team of musicians, called “the Beatles”, was trained in Europe and introduced to America on the popular Ed Sullivan Talent Show, on national television. They were an instant hit, and all other forms of music became “old-fashioned”.

“I could not understand such a phenomenon in 1947. But years later, when I first heard “rock & roll”, everything flashed back to 1947; I realized that the Australian did know that it would be a powerful tool for their conditioning plan.

“The Melbourne man said they had already begun “behavior modification conditioning” in government schools, using audio-visual programs. When they introduce their messages, beginning in preschool, the results are intense and permanent.

“A monster was emerging, that I found sinister and all-controlling. I could not believe what I was hearing. But over and over, he said, “Wait and see. You will live to see our perfect plan in full operation. When we control all the conditioning processes, everything will fall neatly into place.”

“I protested that they were forcing their will and control on people, taking away freedom of choice. His answer was, “No, they can still choose, but they will always choose exactly what they are conditioned to choose.”

““But that’s not right!”

“He laughed at my evident simplicity.

“So I protested again, “But God won’t allow it.”

““Why not? How can a just God – there is no such being – keep these sinless souls out of heaven? That’s what you believe, isn’t it, Mr. Law?”

“So he began a different tactic. “Who do you love, Mr. Law? You certainly don’t love the Australian people.”

““Oh yes, I do, that’s why I came on a mission.” ““So, how many have you saved?”

“This was a hard mission. Few and far between were our welcomes. Fewer were our converts. I admitted grudgingly, “Not many.”

““And,” he said, “all the rest are consigned to hell.”

““Oh no, there are three degrees of glory, and...”

““We know all about your three degrees of glory. It means that many are called to be Mormons, but few are chosen to be gods. We know all about your church. We control every church in the world, except yours, and we will infiltrate that.”

““Mr. Law, you don’t love anybody, do you?”

““I love my mother.”

““No, you don’t. Under your plan, she can either choose to go to hell, or make a mistake and fall through the cracks into hell. If you really loved your mother, you’d be eager to guarantee that she would go to heaven. With our plan, it is guaranteed. In fact, no one will be [sic, should be “be”] lost; they will all go to heaven. Of course, we don’t believe in heaven or hell, anyway. But if you really love your fellow man, our plan is the only way to show it.”

“I said, “I think I’ve heard this plan before.” ““Where could you have heard it?”

““It must have been in the Council in Heaven, before I was born.” He just laughed.

“I was reeling under his attack, but I could not leave. There were no chains on me. But I felt as if I was bound, hand and foot, to the chair – as though I was paralyzed. [Ed. note: this is a form of spiritual attack, similar to what Joseph Smith experienced prior to his First Vision. Do not be surprised if you experience a spiritual attack in connection with reading this book! Be ready for them. Pray and sing hymns until such passes.] So I asked, “Who are you? What do you call this plan?”

““I am one of three members of the central planning committee of the communist party for Australia.”

“I said, “I’ve heard of communism.” But I knew very little about it.

“The Melbourne man told me that the world understood economic, and political, and military communism. But the plan he was outlining to me, he called “spiritual communism”, that would evolve into a worldwide government. He said they were using the current governments until they controlled the world. Then those political, economic, and military leaders would need to be eliminated because they are violent men. Then the new world order would take over.

“I asked how they could make the plan work, when there are so many people who are not prepared to accept it. He said, “We will have to annihilate all who cannot be conditioned to be either a worker or a teacher.”

““How many will you kill?”

““Hundreds of millions, maybe even you and me.” ““But that is murder.”

““That is a Christian term that has no meaning. It is really a part of cleansing.

We need to reduce the population to a more manageable size, anyway. Only the inner corps of the elite leaders know about the plan. The present communist leaders don’t know it. Spiritual communism is not written or recorded anywhere. It is a secret plan.”

““Then why did you tell me?”

“He was a bit perplexed, but he had an answer. “I don’t know. But we are looking for zealous young men who will join this work to help bring about this heaven on earth. Think about it, not one soul will be lost.”

“I was not ready to give up yet. “You’ll never take over the world!”

“He answered, “Mr. Law, we now control two-thirds of all world governments, politically or militarily or economically. Only the United States of America remains as the last major hurdle to world domination.”

“So I boldly declared, “You’ll never take over the United States!”

“But he said, “Mr. Law, let me tell you how it is!” He said they controlled all major conditioning instruments in America now: the entertainment industry, the news media, the education system, the courts, the financial system, political parties. Where they don’t have full control, they have infiltrated and have embedded their agents into all important decision-making bodies. He said they control every agency that affects daily living in America. Their agents were everywhere, doing their jobs.

“But since I was a high school graduate, twelve years in an education system, I thought that made me an expert in education. Quite triumphantly, I said, “You don’t control the education system.”

“Again, “Mr. Law, let me tell you how it is! When you get home, examine any textbook in any school, at any level, from preschool to university graduate school. You will find no mention of Jesus Christ or God or His plan. But you will find our plan being taught at every level. It’s written into every textbook.”

“How right he was. I have spent almost 40 years of my life in education, as a teacher and an administrator, in public and private school systems. Satan’s plan is there; God’s plan is forbidden by law. God has even been declared unconstitutional by the United States Supreme Court.

“I asked when would all this take effect, and his spiritual plan be put into operation. He said, “We have a progressive agenda. We are prepared to take two steps forward, one step back, two forward, one back, until it is time. The American people won’t even know it is happening. When it is favorable, then everything will move swiftly to the purging, or cleansing stage. People will be stunned into immobility. We won't want a time lag between take-over and full operation of our spiritual phase."

"Then he asked, "What do you think? Are you ready to join our forces?"

"I fell back to the only sure ground I knew. "I believe in God, our Heavenly Father and in His Son, Jesus Christ. It's their plan that I will follow."

"The Melbourne man became violently angry and shouted, "There are no such beings! They are myths created to enslave the minds of men. They don't exist!"

[Ed. note: pot calling the kettle black.]

"I answered simply, "But I have felt the power of the Holy Ghost fill me with fire from the top of my head to the soles of my feet, and I have heard the voice of God testify to me that Jesus Christ is His Son. His plan is the truth, and that is what I teach."

"He lunged across the room and attacked me with his fists. Suddenly, I was free. I could move, and I ran outside into the lane. I found my companion wandering around, desperately looking for me. He didn't dare leave, but had kept on searching for me. He had to help me on and off the tram. I was so exhausted that I was unable to get out of bed for a couple of days. [Ed. note: intense spiritual attacks are both physically and emotionally draining, as can be confronting difficult or painful truths. Pray for strength during such times.]

"Elder Matthew Cowley, of the Quorum of Twelve Apostles, was President of all the Pacific missions. He visited us often in Australia. In my interview with him, shortly after this experience, he sensed that something was disturbing me. He asked if I would like to tell him what was wrong.

"So I outlined the Melbourne man's spiritual communism to him. Elder Cowley told me why the man told me the plan. Now that I had been permitted to hear Satan's plan, in detail, I could choose which I would follow, Satan or Christ. [Ed. note: after reading this book, this line is drawn more narrow for the reader, as well. Prepare to make a choice if one hasn't already.]

"Twenty-five years after this event, I was in Elder Ezra Taft Benson's office and told him the account. He said that he had never heard Satan's plan in this life. But he recognized the details that Satan used to persuade one-third of our brothers and sisters to follow him in the pre-existence. They were willing to trade their agency to choose, for Satan's guaranteed salvation. Now, I could choose again which I would follow, Christ's plan of agency, or Satan's plan of total control. After sixty-three years, my choice is more firmly anchored than ever before.

"I have watched spiritual communism eat its ghastly way into every country and into every government, including our own. It is everywhere. All 10 points of Karl Marx's communist manifesto have been quietly incorporated into American life. They have been accepted as "social progress".

"The Book of Mormon tells how secret combinations destroyed two great civilizations, the Jaredites and the Nephites. The Prophet Moroni warns us:

“Wherefore, the Lord commandeth you, when ye shall see these things come among you that ye shall awake to a sense of your awful situation, because of this secret combination which shall be among you.” Ether 8:24

“Are we awake? Evidences of the secret combination – spiritual communism – are everywhere. What can we do about it? When the Jaredites and the Nephites followed the Prophets, they were protected. When they rejected the Prophets, they were destroyed. My only escape from the Melbourne man was my witness of Jesus Christ.

“The Prophet Nephi warned his people:

“...nothing can save this people save it be repentance and faith on the Lord Jesus Christ... Yea, how long will ye suffer yourselves to be led by foolish and blind guides?...” Helaman 13:6, 29

“There is a wonderful lesson to be learned from the Jaredites and the Nephites. There is safety in following the Prophets. I encourage all of us to follow the temporal and spiritual counsel of the latter-day Prophets, Seers and Revelators!” Additional Testimony and Personal Experience Shared by Marion Law
In addition to what is expressed in Brother Law’s autobiographical retelling of his Melbourne experience, many segments of the original 1983 fireside transcript paint not only a more detailed account, but also highly pertinent information. ...

This part of his account begins after he entered the home of the Melbourne Man (emphasis added):

“I just barely began to explain the gospel and the man said to me, ‘Mr. Law, we have a better plan.’ And I said, ‘What is your plan?’ Then he began to unfold to me this experience that I’m telling you about tonight. But I was unable to leave the chair where I sat. It was as though I was physically bound and I felt as though I was chained. I couldn’t move. I couldn’t breathe, and he began to unfold this experience to me – a very foreboding feeling. I have felt the presence of evil, I have had the experience of casting out evil spirits myself from a house and I know what that’s like and this was the most terrifying thing of my life [as] the man began to unfold this ‘other plan.’

“He said, ‘The nature of man occurs in 3 phases. First, man is an economic animal and therefore it is necessary for the state to control the economy so that we can have equality, and it will always be fair because man will always be inhuman to man until he can ‘learn’ to control that side of his nature.’

“And then he said, ‘the second part of man is that man is a political animal and therefore it will be necessary for us to establish a dictatorship kind of government, what you would call a dictatorial form of government,’ but he said, ‘when we bring into effect the third phase of our program that won’t be fearful anyway.’

“And so the third part, man is a spiritual animal,’ and he said, ‘we control some parts of the political world, some parts of economic world.’ He said, ‘we control all the churches except The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.’ He said, 'we have them in our control' and he said that when we have political and economic control of the world, we will then be able to establish our total spiritual program.'

"He said, 'we have done research on thousands of animals and thousands of men, we know that we can create a perfect society because that by using psychological manipulation and psychological conditioning through the use of drugs, diet, and music, and force where necessary. We can condition the mind of man so that man will be sinless.'

"He said, 'there would be no, as you define it, sin. We don't believe in that, but you would call it sin. There would be no hate, no envy, no malice, no lust, no greed, no jealousy, no viciousness, none of the those things that you would classify as sin.'

"Now he said, 'if we were 'the Gods', Mr. Law, how could God keep sinless souls out of heaven, if there is a heaven (we don't believe in those things) but if there is, how could a just God keep a sinless soul out of heaven?'

"He indicated that they would function as Plato's Republic functioned in his description of a republic that the leaders would not oppress the workers, the workers would not be envious of the leaders and the teaching groups would perpetuate this sinless condition. And he said, 'if we could have started with the first thinking man, you claim that's Adam, but we don't believe in that myth either, if we could have started with the first thinking man, he said, we would not have lost a single soul.'...

"He described the drug culture to me, something I just couldn't comprehend, and he described how it would be used to condition people... and he described a process that 25 years later came into being... so we have literally become a part of that drug culture [Ed. Note: which, since the 1990's, has evolved into the prescription drug culture for the middle class. As of 2011, a turning point has been reached where legal prescription drug deaths not only outnumber illegal drug deaths, they also outnumber nationwide traffic fatalities]....

"'We will use diet,' he said. 'We will put into food things that will make it possible for us to condition people.' [Ed. Note: as mentioned earlier, GMO foods have these things "put in" at the DNA level] The whole purpose of the program is to make us conditionable, so that we are susceptible to whatever they wish to teach us....

"...but the thing that was the most shocking and I didn't understand it at the time was music.... [The key is] the underlying beat that goes on and it constantly changes, it is constantly changing. That's why you'll have several guitars and several instruments that are the same, the instruments are the same, they don't have a trumpet and saxophone and a violin because what they need is the conditioning ability of those instruments. They need intense volume, they can deliver any message whatsoever, whether it is backward or forward, doesn't matter whether you can hear the words in the language that [you] are speaking or whether it's exactly the opposite, but the brain will unscramble [it and] pick it up.

“And so we know, for example, that this melodic dissonance can create a conditioning effect so that you will believe whatever it is that you are taught.’ This is the beginning of the free love revolution, is the beginning of the drug culture, the beginning of anti-authority revolution, the beginning of our deterioration of our respect for the flag, the country, the policemen, all the institutions that hold the fabric of our society together.

“And so these things, he described to me, in great detail. It was fascinating. It just was sort of overwhelming to me.... He indicated of course that they would use force where necessary. He said to me that, ‘we’ll take the children from their parents, early enough so that we can condition them, we eliminate all mental, emotional, and physical cripples at birth. They would, of course, have to be terminated.’

“He said, ‘we are now researching and doing experimentation with science so we can extend the life span so that man can live forever.’ He said, ‘the day will come when we will be able to reach into the planets and create a whole universe of these perfect, sinless souls.’...”

“[He said,] ‘If you love everybody, you would embrace our plan. Yours is failing. You have admitted it. How many people have you brought into the light of the gospel?’ ‘Well, not very many,’ [I replied]. He said, ‘You are right. But in our plan, every living soul will be saved.’

“And I said, ‘Well, that’s a great plan, but I, everyone is going to have their free agency.’ ... This guy [was] a very sophisticated, intellectual individual, and he said ‘I can even prove it with your own arguments.’ He said, ‘Who do you love?’ Well, just 2 or 3 months earlier, I had gotten a Dear John [i.e. a break-up letter] from a girl I’d left behind, so I said, ‘I love my mother.’ He said, ‘I can prove you don’t even love your mother.’ He said, ‘We know, for example,’ he said, ‘that the Mormons believe that straight is the gate and narrow is the way that leadeth to heaven and few there be that find it.’

“And I said ‘Yes, oh yes, but there is—’ [Melbourne Man interrupting] ‘Don’t tell me about the 3 degrees of glory, we also know that many are called... but few are chosen. Isn’t that Mormon doctrine? Many are called but few are chosen?’ ‘Well, yeah.’ He said, ‘So that means that your mother can choose Hell if she wants.’ ‘Well, yeah.’ ‘Or she might even fall through the cracks in the church.’ ... He said, ‘So you don’t even love your Mother. Under our plan, it’s guaranteed that she’ll be saved.’

“I said, ‘but I can’t force her to go into heaven.’ [He said,] ‘When she finds out how beautiful it is, if there is such a place and it is as good as you say it is, she’ll spend eternity thanking you for making sure that she was saved. Well,’ he said that, ‘we’re only lovers of humanity, we are the only ones, who truly love our fellow men, you don’t, you’re prepared to let them go to hell. We don’t want anybody to be hurt or abased or offended or wounded or punished or anything.

Why should they be punished? We'll save 'em all, we'll condition their minds,' He said, 'we know we can do it. When we take political and economic control of the world, we will institute our spiritual part of our plan to you.'

"And I said, 'Well, boy, uh, I have heard some of this before.' He said, 'that is not possible.' He said, 'You might have heard of the political part of the plan, you might have heard of the part of the economic part of the plan, but never the spiritual part of the plan. He said, 'the spiritual part of the plan is not written or recorded, only the hard core elite are exposed to the spiritual part of our plan.' And he said, 'I'm one of those in Australia who controls our plan.' And I said to him, 'Why did you tell me?' He said, 'I'm not sure. I felt inspired to tell you.' ... "Well, he asked me where I had heard this plan of his, and I said, 'well, I must have heard it in the councils of heaven.' And he laughed at that. He said, 'we would like to bring some of you young dedicated missionaries into our program.' He said that, 'the one thing we lack is dedication and commitment to our spiritual part of our plan.'

"I said to him 'What is your plan? What is it? What do you call it?' He said, 'I'm a member of the Central Planning committee of the Communist Party in Australia. There are 3 of us who control it.' And I said, 'I've heard of communism.' He said, 'You have heard of the political communism and the economic communism,' he said, 'you have never heard of spiritual communism.'

"Now, I've heard Pres. [David O.] McKay talk about it since. Spiritual Satanism is what he called it. He defined communism as spiritual Satanism.

"I said, 'You have to give people their right to choose.' And he said, 'They'll go to hell if they choose and you are not saving anybody. How many people are in your church?' There was about, then I think, there was less than a million people. He said, 'out of 2 and 1/2 billion? And the rest of them are going to hell. No, don't give me any of that 3 degrees stuff,' he said. 'If [they] don't make the top, they haven't made it.' ...

"[After bearing my testimony of Jesus Christ,] he became violently angry. He said, 'we don't believe in that myth. That's a myth, that's a mystery. They are just parables.' And I said, 'No! I have heard the voice of the Lord, I have felt his power and I know that Jesus Christ is the Son of God.' This man became so violent with me, he attacked me and only then could I break loose and run out into the middle of the street....

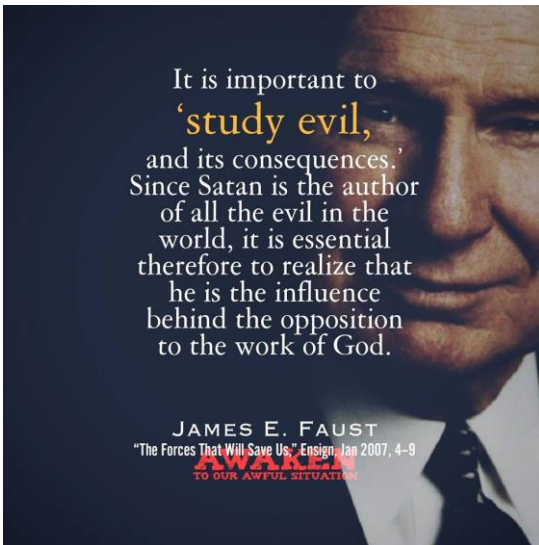

"[My companion] had to help me onto the street car, and take me home... that 3 hour experience was a nightmare.

"I haven't taken the time to recount to you all the things, because he did go through in detail in the method in which they would use diet, the drugs and the music and I've explained to you just a little bit how they would introduce this music and then the drugs, they would introduce it into our diet, our foods [Ed. Note: he's not just referring to the introduction of illicit drugs beginning through the conduit of hippie culture of the 1960's, but also "drugs" in our food and our diet, as well.], they would do all kinds of things that would condition us so we that we would be susceptible and easily led. We would not fight against them so that we would literally embrace their principles and these doctrines.””

Importance of Studying Evil – Quote by President James E. Faust

Well has it been said that you cannot fight a war in which you do not know who you are fighting! Here is President Faust on this:

The True (Religious) History of America by Ken Bowers

Highlights from a lecture at latterdayconservative.com

- in school they don't teach us about the 4 encounters George Washington had with direct gun fire without getting hurt. Are they trying to brainwash us?
- Moroni appeared at least 3 times to Christopher Columbus
- Moroni is appointed as overseer over America
- Moroni was with Washington in his battles
- Moroni gave Columbus his dreams about America
- Columbus said he had seen in vision the people he would find
- Columbus appointed his translator for dealing with the people he would find to be a former Jewish Rabi who spoke Hebrew who had become a Christian. He knew from inspiration that the Indians would speak something similar to ancient Hebrew. The translator confirmed this to be the case. (*we know from The Book of Mormon that the native American Indians are a remnant of the House of Israel who came here originally from the Holy land many years ago mainly from the tribe of Manasseh).
- French were preparing ships for attacking America but the day before they couldn't make it
- An Indian told George Washington that he fired his rifle at him 17 times and could not kill him
- one Indian shot at George Washington 15 paces away and he was unhurt
- George Washington had bullet fragments and holes in his coat and hat but no wounds.

Marc C. Peterson on Zion, America, & Isaiah

- The USA had kept 2 years of food storage, but Clinton sold most of it and Obama sold the rest of it.
- There will be a time after Armageddon in which the gospel will be preached among the eastern countries
- Isaiah says mountains it means nations, he says hills it means small nations.

- Clinton had 70 of his friends died; follow where much death is and there you know secret combinations are.
- People will work for anyone when they don't have food even evil unions.
- There will come a time when we can't move except for with the Church
- The Church is buying many plots of 50 miles of land for girl's camps which could be used for a retreat of the Saints.
- A Priesthood organization under the direction of Jesus Christ will govern the earth eventually. It will be a separate organization than the Church.
- The founding Fathers said we must never have a democracy; such leads to dictatorships for it's not sustainable; we want a republic.
- the Founding Fathers wanted us to have our guns so that in case our government became oppressive we could have our last chance to overcome it; now the government wants to take our guns; they say it's about hunting but not so, they don't want us to have power to stand against them.
- President Benson said he believed Joseph Smith said the members of the Church would save the constitution.
- many today including Church members buy into the socialist lie.
- his wife went to a school meeting where they told them that they would slowly put socialism and homosexuality in the public and college schools.
- The law going out from Zion, the prophets have clarified that such is the Constitution of the USA.
- The persecution will be worse than it was in Missouri said Brigham Young. It then was that they killed our man and children, raped our women, and burned our houses. It will be worse in the last days.
- People say it's only because we are doing science wrong that the earth is having catastrophes, but it's from our sin. It's not global warming it's global wickedness.
- thousands of scientists have evidence that the earth is cooling not getting hotter, but they can't get on the news for it doesn't fit on the political agenda of the politicians.
- since the 1920's the storms have doubled and since the 1990's it's more than that
- given the choice of a cat and a bag of gold people pick the cat for you can eat such
- it says long term food storage, call the welfare department of the Church, they clarify that such means a year.
- hail storms are a very effective way of destroying crops; such are prophecies to come; such would even knock down buildings like missiles.
- the reason Satan doesn't want missionaries to go out is because they are what happens just before Satan is overthrown.
- there will be another Civil War in the USA then the missionaries are called home then there is to be an international war see Isa. 10 and 13.
- before Japan attacked us we gave them weapons

- we are giving weapons to other nations now
- the missionaries go out, they are called home before the destructions, then after Armageddon a 3.5-year war, they go back out to preach more.
- the USA economy will soon crash, then civil, then international war.
- D&C specifies that Mt. Zion is the New Jerusalem; (The Pearl of Great Price clarifies that New Jerusalem is in America in Missouri).
- With Moses we see the power of one righteous Priesthood holder is greater than a whole nation. Wicked sorcerers imitated the snake, and made a bowl of red water, but they couldn't imitate the greater plagues Moses brought, and they confessed Moses' God was the real one.
- China and Russia will invade the USA, there will be attacks on Utah. Where will the Church members hide? We don't know but the Church is buying much land in many places.
- one reason the Church leaders tell us to get an education is because it will help us rebuild destroyed America. Knowledge is the one thing they can't take from us.
- the prophecies say that there will be a time when we can see from temple to temple there will be so many. There will be a temple at the center of each city. When the city gets full it doesn't overpack but moves on to make another city.
- some of the Brethren have suggested that the meeting of Adam-ondi-Ahman will be able to accommodate all the Saints via doing that meeting in several sessions like we do temple dedications.
- he says Gog means evil leader and Magog means people of the evil leader; that there will be such a battle before and after the Millennium, each are a type of each other.
- he says the parable to the ten virgins is about active members of the Church who go on Sundays etc.; each have their lamps and are dressed for the marriage etc. But when we go against what church leaders tell us to go for like Prop. 8, we are getting on the wrong side of the line.
- Adamic language, the old language, the letters had symbolism to them as well as phonetic meaning (*like Hebrew)
- San Pete will probably be one of the places we will go if righteous
- 13-month war he thinks will be the one against the USA, the then 3.5 year war to be the one against Jerusalem.
- Joseph Smith said that if the USA doesn't make right the wrongs they committed against the Saints, they'll have mobs until they're sick of it. They haven't righted those wrongs.
- many who have had visions about the attack say it will be in the harvest time at a holiday like Thanksgiving or Christmas
- secret combinations are what rob the people by making laws that force us to pay for other peoples' benefits that they don't deserve. Also to make lying ok in business. Also it's to make it okay to fornicate.

- if the government ever tries to take your guns or your freedom of religion, it has lost it's legitimacy.
- when they start arresting Church leaders, and sending the missionaries home, beware, that's when the destruction comes.
- many who have seen the destruction in vision say it happens in a matter of days, Isaiah said it happens in a day.
- people say it'll get better; it won't. Not until the Lord is ruling on the earth.

Noolander & Chuck Baldwin on Christ, Constitution, Socialism, Voting, Freedom

- when people say that to be an American isn't anything but a feeling, they're wrong.
- religiously we speak in the name of Jesus Christ. Governmentally we speak by the Constitution, which says we are to be Governed by God.
- if it's not right for me to do something as a person, it's not right for the Government to do it; the creature can't become greater than the creator.
- the founding fathers saw democracy as a great evil, which would mean that the masses could live in evil if they were evil; hence they set up rather a republic
- we have the right to do what we should, not merely the right to do whatever.
- put dirty gas in a good car, and the car won't work. It's like having bad leaders in the government with the Constitution. Hence our Constitution is only for a moral and religious people.
- what's being taught and how it's being taught are the fundamental issues for our society
- the real issue isn't same sex marriage or posting the commandments, the issue is whether the Declaration of Independence is our moral creed or just an old document, for it answers such questions.
- socialism is evil; it destroys people and nations.
- centralization of power of communism; it's same sex marriage; it's abortion, etc.
- the more a nation embraces socialism, the more it will be godless and secular.
- the New Deal was a step toward socialism
- do you sell your liberty for government and socialistic programs? In other words, do you sell what you have for money? "You can buy anything in this world for money."
- we should not offer social benefits for those who live outside the marriage covenant. We cannot defend such a position on judgement day when we stand before God.

-good wise and honest people don't vote for the best bad choice, but for correct thing on the Constitution. God himself says we are only to vote for these kinds of people. Do what is right and leave the event in the hand of God.
-once freedom is lost, that man is damned.
-to surrender freedom without a fight is offensive to that God who died to bring us those rights.
-Patrick Henry speech "Give Me Liberty or Give Me Death" speech hear.
Speaks of war already upon us and how we must take a stand now.
-if people can oppress us politically, they (have the potential to if we are not aware) damn us spiritually

The Constitution by Michael Gaddy

-healthsharepro.com for a cheap alternative to Obamacare where you don't have to pay the fees.
-George Washington said Patrick Henry was the most Christian of the founding fathers, Christianity is the first thing he left to his posterity in his will.
-montechello.com is a site where we can see which quotes of the founding fathers are actually from them.
-gov. isn't reason it's force and is dangerous George Washington said.
-James Madison and Alexander Hamilton tries to get the government for themselves in 1786 with a convention in Annapolis Maryland. Jon J. sent a letter to George Washington said the articles of Confederation don't work because we don't have the ability to cooers.
-Patrick Henry fought long and hard to get the bill of Rights
-many of our leaders don't realize that they are sworn to uphold the law of this land which is the Constitution
-Patrick Henry wanted no direct taxation on the people because the more money the nation has the more it can be corrupt
-Rush Bater Ginsburg is a judge high in USA government who said sex between children and adults should not be illegal.
-The Federal Government should deal with the states not the people.
-Patrick Henry asked why we didn't say we the states instead of we the people.
-the original says we the people of then it names all 13 colonies, signifying that it's about the states as the middle man, which is how it should be.
-we don't want a national government under one head, we want a federated government where the states are our governing bodies.

- since 2012 the president can order a person killed without a trial jury. We are becoming, thus, like Nazi Germany, whom also had socialized medicine like we have with Obamacare and in part with something Bush set up.
- thinking that the government is the Almighty is what leads to destruction.
- we should not want to merely uphold every law the government passes, but to uphold the Constitution.
- the Constitution doesn't say that Sheriffs are the enforce the law of the state or the fed. They are to support the Constitution of the United States and uphold the peace.
- Sheriffs are to know how to determine the Constitutionality of any act, and should immediately resign from office.
- laws don't decide for themselves if they are valid; Nazi Germany was a nation of laws, and everything Hitler did was legal.
- Jeremy Loch "The End of Evil" a book; speaks of how people think they need to obey them no matter who wrote them.
- the Republicans and the Democrats are just 2 wings of the same buzzard.
- "When the river run's backwards, someone is messing with it."
- it's crazy that a man with an Arab name was elected for public office shortly after 9/11; they had plans for this guy Obama.
- the worst time of monarchy is an elected one
- Obama is a diversion, not the real issue.
- by Randolf Born "War is the Health of the State" book
- they have every gang in America represented in the military
- local elections are the important ones
- we can sit on a jury and tell the judge what to do; it's not the judge who tells us what to do; we have the power we just won't use it because we are comfortable.
- lawyers don't know the Constitution

-Diet VS Turner case: Utah Supreme Court says USA Supreme Court has followed social reformers and doesn't use the original intent of the Constitution anymore. That they are foisting (imposing by fraud) whims upon the American people. They go on to show with 4 pages how the 14th amendment was foisted upon us.

-1972 book “Government by Judiciary: The Transformation of the 14th Amendment” by Rob Burger; legal historian; (the book “Betrayed by the Bench” is another book on the subject published more recently) ; William Rehnquist called it raw tyranny, he is a Supreme Court Justice. He was speaking of Roe VS Wade; now we kill as many people a day via abortion as were killed in the day of 9/11, but you don't see that on the news, it's all in a days work so to say. about 50 million people have been killed via abortion in the USA. No other nation ever has done this before.

-read the words of Justice William Rehnquist said this is an improvident and extravagant move of the supreme court.

-Antonin Scalia also speaks of this; how only the courts own say so make the belief in God which the society has unconstitutional.

-Sir William Blackstone; a great jurist and author Founding Fathers referred to

-Law which is contrary to the law of nature are creeds or robbers and isn't law at all; the law of this land is the Constitution, and laws made contrary to such we can question as to whether they even are law (or at least know those aren't good laws)

-Clarence Thomas Associate Justice of the Supreme Court says there are only 2 ways to interpret the Constitution, the original intent of the Founding Fathers, or the Supreme Court just makes it up. He says the way we do it today is we just have the Supreme Court make it up.

-Sociological Juris Prudence is how we operate in the USA now, it's about the people getting whatever they want weather it's Constitutional or not. It's from the idea of evolution, and goes hand in hand with SOCIAL DARWINISM, that because we evolved from slime, some humans are more elite than others and can rule the others, and also that because we are evolving, we can have new needs that make the old laws not apply to us, and this is how they rationalize not using the Constitution anymore.

-“Trial by Jury” by Lysander Spooner written in 1852; free at <http://www.lysanderspooner.org/tbj.pdf>

-J Reuben Clark, “Roman Civil Law”

–Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr. was an American jurist who served as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States from 1902 to 1932, and as Acting Chief Justice of the United States January–February 1930; he said people are no greater than sand or apes because of evolution, and hence laws should be made by the elite humans to govern the rest of the humans, that their opinions don’t matter.

–Alfred Charles Kinsey is the father of modern sex education; extremely exploiting (*Wikipedia on him: (/ˈkɪnzi/; June 23, 1894 – August 25, 1956) was an American biologist, professor of entomology and zoology, and sexologist who in 1947 founded the Institute for Sex Research at Indiana University,[1] now known as the Kinsey Institute for Research in Sex, Gender, and Reproduction. He is best known for writing Sexual Behavior in the Human Male (1948) and Sexual Behavior in the Human Female (1953), also known as the Kinsey Reports, as well as the Kinsey scale. Kinsey’s research on human sexuality, foundational to the field of sexology, provoked controversy in the 1940s and 1950s. His work has influenced social and cultural values in the United States, as well as internationally.)

-Steven Brayer sides with Clarence Thomas; Obama speaks with them, saying how the Constitution is a living document which we morph to fit the needs of our changing society. This is a way of saying they do whatever they want with it.

-Antonin Scalia helps us to understand that the battle isn’t between conservatives and liberals, it’s between original Constitutionalists and living Constitutionalists.

-Nancy Pelosi raged the healthcare law for all was legal by the interstate commerce clause of the Constitution which is ridiculous.

–The Conservative Mind: From Burke to Eliot by Russell Kirk; written in 1953 explaining the original meaning the claim to the word “conservative”

-the 20th Century has been the most blood thirsty one in the history of the world because the USA has killed about 50 million people via abortion; this is more than any other nation today, and more than any other nation in the past!

Civilizations have been destroyed by God for less!

-the order of the power of the three branches was originally intended to be thus: Legislative>Executive>Judicial. You’ll read in school books that they were created to be equal, but not so. The Federalist Papers number 78 says that the Judicial branch should be the weakest of the three to cite one source.

- Dr. Ron Paul is good
- war mongering is the essence of neo-conservatism
- J. Reuben Clark in 1940 said that the USA has been taken over by an alien and foreign power.
- The President never declares war anymore, he just says we are sending thousands of troops here and there.
- WE HAVE MOVED FROM RULE OF LAW, TO SOCIAL DARWINISM, AND NOW WE HAVE GOVERNMENT BY JUDICIARY!
- Dyett v. Turner — Utah Supreme Court — 1968

In this court case, Utah Supreme Court calls out the federal government as having foisted (deceived) the 14th Amendment upon the USA, etc. They denounce supremacist judges in Washington D.C. ; they push for Constitutional law as opposed to social law.

see <http://www.freedomformula.us/articles/dyett-v-turner-utah-supreme-court-1968/>

-book he compiled, "LDS pronouncements regarding socialism communism fascism welfare-stateism and other collectivist forms of Satan's plan" on what the prophets have said on the matter.

-Ezra Taft Benson said that many waited too long and ended up not fighting with George Washington, and that we need to fight now against the evil, that there has never been a greater time to do so than now.

-the patriot act destroys the Constitution and our sovereignty

-why is the word on government quite for a while it seems? Perhaps the tares are being allowed to grow up with the wheat to not choke out the wheat while it is young and tender.

-Book with Joseph Smith words, called something like Joseph Smiths premier on the principals of government and USA or something

-here is another reason why prophets don't tell us everything: Mormon 1: 15-17
15 And I, being fifteen years of age and being somewhat of a sober mind, therefore I was visited of the Lord, and tasted and knew of the goodness of Jesus.

16 And I did endeavor to preach unto this people, but my mouth was shut, and I was forbidden that I should preach unto them; for behold they had willfully rebelled against their God; and the beloved disciples were taken away out of the land, because of their iniquity.

17 But I did remain among them, but I was forbidden to preach unto them, because of the hardness of their hearts; and because of the hardness of their hearts the land was cursed for their sake.

-if next conference they don't mention adultery being bad, it doesn't mean it's okay! So it is with politics!

-One man wrote Elder Neal A. Maxwell about why he doesn't talk more about liberty or conspiracy or something, he wrote back, "Why don't you?"

-we don't understand what God has given us already, how could God possibly give us the sealed portion of The Book of Mormon?

-for the past 25 years he has read The Book of Mormon at least 6 times a year and continues to find new truth in it.

-D&C 84 says we are under indictment for not taking the Book of Mormon seriously.

-the Brethren can't carry us all on everything we must start moving forward

-President Benson said The Book of Mormon is one of the greatest handbooks on liberty.

-H. Verlan Anderson wrote Many are Called but Few Are Chosen and The Great and Abominable Church of the Devil

-we don't speak much of these things in big Church meetings because the Lord teaches in parables, and personally one by one on introductory messages via the missionaries.

-the USA military is in over 130 countries around the world

-the USA military is spread very thin

- Dec. 1945 1st Presidency message
- McConkie 1979 Gen. Conf. talk says there is a nuclear war that shall happen, and that we have no promise unless we are faithful
- speaks of a nation who nearly required military service of their woman regardless of marital status or having children.
- he defeated fluoride in his community
- his email is liberty1787@comcast.net to share ideas or to ask for information; address the subject as Constitution party or something like that to get his attention.
- says certain times he is on the radio
- he ran a community homeschool of about 25 children who met 3 times a week in his basement
- we need to fight for liberty for without such we cannot do temple work or family history work etc.
- Helaman 6 shows that conspiracies are generational
- see History of the Church 6:323
- it's good to join other nations to ours under the rule of the true Constitution, but what people want to do is get a new world order ruled by a socialist government.
- see "False God's We Worship" 1st Presidency Message where they rebuke us for worshipping stele, and for training a man to kill then calling him a patriot
- if we must go to war, the damage we do is upon the head of the person who started that war, for we are powerless against the government.
- Joseph Smith said that it's better to throw away your vote on voting for a good candidate that won't win the election rather than voting for a "lesser of two evils" candidate who could win and then use that weapon we gave him to destroy us. (Comprehensive History of the Church by BH Roberts Vol. 2: 208-209)
- Scott Bradley 2011 11 22
- Dec 1945 First Presidency Message against a universal draft (Messages of the First Presidency Vol. 6 or Improvement Era 1945 and 1946) They say that it's good for children to be in their parents' home after age 18. They say sending all our children to the military would be bad for they could develop a desire to kill, and be out of the refining area of the world and put them in a hostile environment, and a list of other issues, 17 of them.
- Benson said if our foreign policy is correct we would be safe
- June 1976 Benson talk
- Dec. 14 1945 1st Presidency Message: encouraged letters to be written to the Senate about an issue of war
- John Kennedy spoke at the tabernacle at Provo and said that what the founding fathers said doesn't apply since we live in different times. (Sept. 26)

- President of the USA doesn’t have authority to declare war, that is what the congress does; and you can’t relegate a power which the Constitution enumerates.
- have comers with all, and alliance with none.
- Book of Mormon Moroni was sworn to defend his country not go attack others; we are to be on the defense side.
- via abortion we have killed over 55 million people; those are innocent people we are killing.
- J Reuben Clark 1937
- J Reuben Clark 1930 he plead with us not to get into war
- J Reuben Clark Conf. Report Apr. Conf. 1942 ; speaks of how the wars will take our Dr.’s out of our land so we need learn to care for our own children. Says we need obey the command of our country leaders when they force us to war, and that killing in such wars they will not be held guilty; but no free pass to those who become involved in war crimes;
- there is a difference between war and unconstitutional war.
- God said what comes more or less than the Constitution concerning law cometh of evil see D&C.
- In The Book of Mormon there is a period of time preceding the Coming of Christ where the people have a Constitutional rule, this time parallels ours.
- don’t rewrite the Constitution, just apply the Constitution.
- President Benson said that we should try to expose the secret conspiracies/secret combinations his lecture on the Constitution on March 23 2006

- Humanist Manifesto’s (1-3) can be found at <http://americanhumanist.org>; they are how the public-school systems work today, not allowing anything supernatural (religion), encouraging evolution, denying existence of a God, encouraging socialism, speeding of the wealth, government handouts, free education, euthanasia, etc.
- national popular public education will be the most effective tool for spreading atheism the world has ever known Dr. A A Hodge said in 1887 a Princeton Theologian. It’s about who believes the most must give way to who believes the least in the public education system.
- suggests the clear and present danger film

-April 1965 Benson Conference Report; see Teachings of Ezra Taft Benson (Bookcraft) pg. 569-560 he speaks of how some were too late to help with George Washington waiting around for something big; we are in a similar position and need to act now.

His lecture 2013 11 15 with Mark Porter:

-book biography of Lorenzo Snow by Eliza R Snow Ch. 17 July 24 1829 celebration; speaks of patriotism of LDS; Oct. 2008 President Packer commented on such.

-President J Reuben Clark gives the idea that the last just war of the USA was the war of 1812.

-The wars we fight with Iraq and Iran they said it was because they may someday have weapons of mass destruction and that they violate human rights; neither of those reasons have anything to do with the Constitution of the United States.

-The Federalist Papers # 42 as well as the Constitution as well as NW Ordinance of 1787 and 1779 show that the Founding Fathers wanted to end slavery

-Government controlled healthcare is the keystone of a socialist society

-President Obama tried to change the law by FIAT; he isn't allowed to change the law in any way!

-When Scott Bradley ran for Utah Senator he had people calling him asking him what he was going to give them if they elected him; this is how people are now wanting handouts. He told them he could only help them be free to act for themselves, and that wasn't enough for them.

-people told him to become Senator by running as a Republican and getting money from others who would support him, then once in office he could do whatever he wanted, to the right things contrary to what he would tell those who would give him the money to run would say. He refused the offer, not wanting to be a liar like those already in office, and said he would rather be good with God than win political power. The good ends don't justify the evil means!

His lecture on Secret Combinations:

-“As bearers of the priesthood, we have been placed on earth in troubled times.

We live in a complex world with currents of conflict everywhere to be found.

Political machinations ruin the stability of nations, despots grasp for power, and segments of society seem forever downtrodden, deprived of opportunity, and left with a feeling of failure.” (2008 April General Conference Examples of Righteousness President Thomas S. Monson President of the Church)

-definition of machination from Mariam Webster: “a scheming or crafty action or artful design intended to accomplish some usually evil end”

(<http://www.merriam-webster.com/dictionary/machination>)

-by verse count the main topics in The Book of Mormon are Jesus Christ, war, secret combinations.

-The Founding Fathers of America are who coined the term Secret Combinations. They also used the word Priestcrafts, understanding such.

- The Nazi's didn't call themselves Nazi's they called themselves national socialists, and those words slurred together to make the word Nazi.
- Ezra Taft Benson 1965 Conference Report
- Apr 6 Message to the Saints Messages of the First Presidency (see book "Messages of the First Presidency)
- "To Preserve the Nation" book by Scott Bradley
- The Founding Fathers never used the term "Democratic Republicans" exempt in speaking of how such is evil. Who say that the Founding Fathers liked such are either deceived or part of the conspiracy.
- Free Education is a Marxist philosophy
- News Week Magazine Feb. 2009
- President Benson said to do these 3 things, learn of the founding fathers and what they meant, be involved in politics, and educate others on these things.
- Moroni 8 says that the nation is basically gone, but we have to try to help it anyway or we will not be guiltless before God.
- The duty is ours, the result is Gods'. That is what they said much in the days of Joseph Smith.
- Article 6 of the Constitution says that the law IS the Constitution of the US. That is what D&C means when it tells us to uphold the law of our land.
- Suggests listening to Glen Beck, and Mark Lavin, and others.
- Illuminati in 1847 became Communist Union. For the federal investigation of the Illuminati, see the History of Jacobism book
- The Communist Manifesto says in the beginning of it that it is socialist literature. Communism and Socialism are the same thing. It also refers to it as being a secret society and very well spread through the nations.
- The Illuminati and the Communist goals are the same, that we should have no right to personal property, get rid of the current government, and get rid of family.
- J Reuben Clark ran for Utah Senate 2 times but the Saints rejected him
- the United Nations is mostly police states
- when the USA helped Iraq write a Constitution we gave them a soviet style Constitution; nothing of separation of powers and checks and balances; we basically created a tyranny for the people of Iraq
- when we put our military in other nations it makes them want to do the same to us
- NATO and other groups like them are about not having borders, and that is what Marx wanted us to have.
- the humanist manifesto is the thing that is on our public education system now. It's about building a global community; dissolving America.
- the countries that we are attacking as the USA are the ones which are not in the big banking system like Libya wasn't involved and Iraq etc. these places wanted to do their own thing, but it could be the USA conspiracy that is trying to get these places in the big banking.

-the purposes of the pre-mortal war were to see whether God would stay enthroned (Lucifer said “give me thine honor” to Elohim), and to see if man would get agency.

-55 years after the shot that was fired which was heard around the world, the restoration of the fullness of the Gospel of Jesus Christ occurred.

-George Washington was chosen to be President on April 6. 14 years later Joseph Smith was born. 14 years later the first vision of Joseph Smith occurred where he saw God The Father and Jesus Christ The Son of God.

-Brigham Young said he believed the Constitution is correct and the best form of government that he could ask for, but he didn’t like “the damned rascals who administer it.”

-It looked like Joseph Smith was going to win as he was running for President, that is probably why he was assassinated.

-see Joseph Smith pamphlet on his political platform

-Idaho Falls temple dedication prayer spoke of the Constitution as majestic etc. see <http://www.ldschurchtemples.com/idahofalls/prayer/>

-President Benson said that the bearers of the Priesthood will save the Constitution

-President Benson said that to neglect to vote for a good political candidate is a sin

-Joseph Smith’s ideas on crime and punishment are very different from what we do in the USA now.

-see teachings of Ezra Taft Benson pg. 569-560

-Joseph Smith’s solution to the slavery issue was to sell some of the federal lands and use that money to buy the slaves so they are employed rather than slaves; the remaining land would be given to the slaves. Nobody loses.

-Our schools have children re-write the Constitution, making them think that they can write better than the founders; this is ridiculous; we rather should help our children understand that there is NOTHING wrong with the Constitution and to uphold it!

-India Russia Europe USA you see all of these with similar secret conspiracies

-Destruction of the USA is now more eminent than it was in the 1860’s with the Civil war for people are trying to get rid of the Constitution so we will have no blueprint with which to fix the nation.

-History of the Church vol. 6 to see Joseph Smith’s views on popular government.

-Joseph Smith said to make popular that which is sound and true and to make unpopular that which is not.

-“The Singularity is Near: When Humans Transcend Biology” by Ray Kurzweil is a book about how they are trying to use artificial intelligence to connect humans to robots and not require humans to have bodies etc. Very evil. -“We Are All Socialists Now” Newsweek Magazine 16 February 2009 (Cover Story)

- “The New American Magazine.” President Benson read regularly and gave subscriptions of the magazine to both President Hinckley and President Monson – Archive Publishers out of Heber City, Utah see them for the publication on the political platform of Joseph Smith. See also (History of the Church, Vol.6, Ch.8, p.197-209; Vol. 5. No. 10. Nauvoo, Illinois, May 15, 1844. Whole No. 94, Times and Seasons, Vol.5, p.528-533)

-John Birch Society. See jbs.org President Benson was a huge advocate, his son Reed worked of them, and his wife Flora was a chapter leader.

-The first comprehensive American dictionary was published in 1828 by Founding Father Noah Webster. In this book he captured the meanings of the words as they were used during the American Founding era. The title of the dictionary is “American Dictionary of the English Language” Noah Webster 1828. Scott Bradley’s book, “To Preserve the Nation,” has a large appendix of words from George Washington’s “Farewell Address” which were defined from this dictionary.

- “It is a paradox that men will gladly devote time every day for many years to learn a science or an art; yet will expect to win a knowledge of the gospel, which comprehends all sciences and arts, through perfunctory glances at books or occasional listening to sermons. The gospel should be studied more intensively than any school or college subject. They who pass opinion on the gospel without having given it intimate and careful study are not lovers of truth, and their opinions are worthless.” (John A. Widtsoe, [1872–1952] of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles, Evidences and Reconciliations, p.16-17)

-At a breakfast meeting with Elder Dallin Oaks I (Scott Bradley) quoted John Adams as writing to his wife: “The science of government is my duty to study, more than all other sciences; the arts of legislation and administration and negotiation ought to take place of, indeed to exclude, in a manner, all other arts. I must study politics and war, that my sons may have liberty to study mathematics and philosophy. My sons ought to study mathematics and philosophy, geography, natural history and naval architecture, navigation, commerce, and agriculture, in order to give their children a right to study painting, poetry, music, architecture, statuary, tapestry, and porcelain.” (Quoted in Adrienne Koch, ed., The American Enlightenment [New York: George Braziller, 1965], pg. 188). Elder Oaks seemed delighted by the sentiment.

- October 1987 general conference talk “Our Divine Constitution” (see Ensign Magazine, November 1987) President Ezra Taft Benson quotes Joseph Smith, saying: “The Prophet Joseph Smith said: ‘t is our duty to concentrate all our influence to make popular that which is sound and good, and unpopular that which is unsound. 'Tis right, politically, for a man who has influence to use it. ... From henceforth I will maintain all the influence I can get'" (History of the Church, 5:286).

Other Notes from Scott Bradley:

– in regard to “celebrities” who endorsed the so-called 1968 Gun Control Act, at least the following endorsed it: Jimmy Stewart, Gregory Peck, Charlton Heston, Tom Laughlin, and Kirk Douglas.

-in regard to comments about so-called “celebrities” who have come out in favor of a convention to change the Constitution, there are many “celebrities” who have endorsed a convention to alter the United States Constitution, including the ones noted here and others such as Sara Palin, Rush Limbaugh, David Barton, and sometimes (he seems to drift in and out) Mike Lee.

-Levin’s book “The Liberty Amendments” is a good example of poorly conceived proposed changes to the United States Constitution. Implementing most of his proposals would fundamentally change the foundation principles of this nation and destroy the way back to proper government. Perhaps we should be grateful he authored the book to show us what is at stake and the depth of misunderstanding of those who wish to change the Constitution.

– the Founding Fathers had under the inspiration of God when they made the Constitution etc. (see D&C 98:4-11; D&C 101:77-80)

-to get old J Reuben Clark talks etc. many talks are available in a multi-volume publication from Brigham Young University Press (available at Amazon Books and some other sources), and many are published in LDS general conference reports.

Latter-day Conservative: Two Churches Only by Christian Markham - Highlights

[Note: I read his book, “Two Churches Only”. It is very good. However I didn’t like the second half of volume 2 at all which is apostate.]

For a vast resource of media materials free on his website see

<http://twochurchesonly.com/index.php?page=multimedia>

-The job of the prophets is not to tell us everything, nor are they better than us.

They merely have a more weighty calling in the church, more responsibility to teach us the gospel. They give us the tools, and we are responsible for finding truth from the tools they give us. We are responsible for working out our own salvation, and standing up against secret combinations. The Doctrine and Covenants says that when we see secret combinations arise, we are commanded to then stand up to fight against the rising of these things lest our society fall!

-The Book of Mormon has many examples of how secret combinations, secret societies have carried on throughout history and have been used, infiltrating societies, and how the devil is the founder of such.

-They Egyptians had 2 sets of eyes when the one was open the other was to be shut. This means they were to live double lives, to appear nice to their loved ones and friends then to be their real selves when they did their works in darkness. There was esoteric and exoteric, exoteric is the evil we see in the world, and esoteric is the underground/secret evil in the world that is kept secret.

-The Greek philosophers many were Luciferians, such is how we have the western culture entirely.

-The Greek mythology, those Gods were not worshiped by them, but they were symbols which they understood. They laugh at us when we think we know what those mean, they are the ones who have the keys about what those things mean.

-Prometheus in Prometheus Bound for the Greeks meant Prometheus was Lucifer, one who took something from heaven and gave it to the humans, and that they God's punished him for doing that, thinking that the humans are unworthy. They think Lucifer is a misread character who we should worship follow and sympathize over. So they thought that they had secrets to keep amongst themselves and that they had the right to rule the people being superior to the rest of the people that are not a part of the group they belong to. They kill those who reveal their secrets. They know magic and have always been interested in such.

-Hidden groups are not like the mafia we know of them; the hidden groups are sworn to secrecy as we see Cain was in the bible. The first to reveal the secret combination in the bible was put to death. President Benson said that hidden groups are gaining power. These are not those who we know of, but deeper conspiring people who do their works in the dark, and "prove the destruction of an entire people."

-The secret combination groups want to kill all the people so there is less population and they can have children at their leisure without overpopulating the earth they say.

-Aladdin: another film couched in nice things which slowly softly indoctrinates with socialism views.

-The Lion King: It's about socialism, how the lower class is forced into government by the higher class, and the bad lion represents Jesus Christ, who is trying to liberate the people; the funky magical monkey represents the initiate of the mystery schools, who inspires the son of the old lion king to take the throne that is 'rightfully' his.

-*President Barak Obama making a 'joke' on where he was born played a clip from the Lion King film in which he holds up new baby lion prince, which we know symbolizes the anti-Christ!

-Need these things for Satan to rule: (and Hugh Nibley agrees, for such is learned in antiquities and the Kingdom of the Devil has been around from the beginning):

-Star Trek has much luciferianism and communism portrayed in it.

-The Secret Combinations people teach us their doctrine subtly by portraying it packaged in good things, like Disney movies.

-Can download other books from his website as well.

-The True Church is not a pyramid in its government, even the prophet Thomas S. Monson has to go to his bishop for his temple recommend. The members are all of the same worth in God's eyes. Only Jesus Christ would be considered above any member of the Church.

-The Devil's Church is a secret pyramid hierarchy.

-There are current mystery schools, like a Harry Potter school; it's the .001% of those of the Church of the Devil that go to such, Lucifer and his cohorts are in attendance in such meetings.

-They believe all good things are from Lucifer, whom is the giver of light and good in this world, and is tragically misunderstood by humans, namely Christians. They believe he will be their Savior. He makes people think that free agency leads to doom and that they must surrender their self-control, that they are too stupid to make it on their own, like not using drugs etc.

-They use Satanists as pawns, and think such are stupid. The Luciferians are very well organized.

-They believe Jesus Christ's gospel is a bastardized corrupted version of the mysteries. That he was in intro-level incite in the mysteries who went apostate and taught that he is God.

-They believe in re-incarnation for it's the only form of eternal justice that doesn't require a Savior! They use it to justify elitism and oppression, and especially with Hitler's case, eugenics. They think that they have been reincarnated 1000 times and that they are now at the top and that if they do well they will become Gods. They think that slaughtering people i.e. all those Jews is just helping them progress in their re-incarnation; they think those they slaughter will thank them in eternity.

-The way Lucifer works with his church is intellectualism.

-The Masons are nice on the outside, and on the deeper levels, it is a way of getting people into the mystery schools, where they learn how to do Luciferian science and magic, and are part of an extremely secret combination.

-A letter from the Masons which was not for the general public but slipped into such on accident revealed that the society was nice on the outside, but that on the inner levels it is for the purpose of getting people to an elite society where they are combined throughout the world to their political purposes and to subjecting the human race to their control.

-His friend was a man who worked on large machinery, and was called to a small town in Texas to fix a massive scanner; it was at a Mason Lodge, it looked so small he didn't even know how it would fit the scanner; he went in and a disconcerted lady who seemed frustrated that he was there lead him down many long hallways and down many floors in an elevator to get to the room where the scanner was. He fixed it then not knowing how to find his way out for only that lady was there and she had gone away somewhere, he wandered around to find his way out. He saw that the floor had carpet, the walls were lined with marble, and in some areas deeper in even the ceilings were lined with marble. He came to a large wooden door and it opened right up. Inside it was like a football stadium large, a room which would hold 30,000 people, a massive conference room; when he went in he felt something come over him, then in his mind he heard a shout, YOU SHOULD NOT BE HERE! GET OUT NOW! He quickly left and eventually found his way out of the building.

-in the mystery schools, which are hidden schools, Harry Potter Hogwarts schools are a fantasy version of such, they teach godly sciences, which Lucifer knows, for he has no veil of forgetfulness, he remembers all of these, he leads them on by intellectualism, he is present at such meetings at times. This is the same group which taught some of these as in times of Egypt to levitate, live under water, endure torture without experiencing pain, etc.

-One of the methods of the Luciferians is that they lie massive lies so big that the people will think they no one would lie that big so there must be some truth to what they are saying. Even if their lie can be proved wrong right away, still people think there must have been some truth to it because someone said it and people think that people may tell little lies but never big ones.

-*The massive lie idea we see in Obama saying that he has helped the national debt issue. read posts on Dinesh D'Souza and see the links to his speeches and documents for more information on such.

-Homosexuality, like the groves of old, are the way that people in this secret society bond to each other; they may even prefer heterosexual intercourse but they do homosexuality as a part of their way they bond to each other. So Sodom and Gomorrah was not just a bunch of homosexuals running around, it was a bunch of Luciferians!

-looking at history, any practice which has followed the Luciferian practices and had such become legal in their land has soon been destroyed. This is what is happening to America.
